DECLARATION OF ANDREW LUNETTA

13 CV 2115 (RWS)
ECF Case

----- X

ANDREW LUNETTA, declares under the penalty of perjury, pursuant to 28
U.S.C. § 1746, that the foregoing is true and correct:

1. I am the Commanding Officer of the New York City Police Department License Division ("License Division"), at 1 Police Plaza, New York, New York. I hold the rank of Deputy Inspector. I am also an attorney licensed to practice law in New York. I have been a uniformed member of the NYPD in various legal, investigative, and enforcement assignments for over 26 years, and have been the Commanding Officer of the License Division for over five years. I submit this declaration in opposition to plaintiffs' motion for a preliminary injunction. I submit this declaration to describe how the specific restriction at issue in this case, set forth in Title 38 of the Rules of the City of New York ("RCNY") § 5-23(a)(3), relates to the obligation of the New York City Police Department ("NYPD") to monitor all active handgun license holders in the City of New York (nearly 37,000) and to explain how the specific restriction is necessary to address the public safety concerns that inherently arise when a handgun is removed from a premise and taken onto public streets. I also submit this declaration to explain the procedures employed by the License Division for applications for Premises Residence and Carry Business handgun licenses and investigations of both applicants and active licensees, to explain the procedures employed by the License Division for the review and determination of applications for approved firearms ranges in New York City, and to put in specific facts about authorized firearm ranges in New York City. This declaration is based on my personal knowledge, my review of the city's records and conversations with employees, officers, and agents of the City.

Enforcing the Restriction on Premises Residence Licenses

2. My experience with incident investigations and as a uniformed member of the NYPD has shown that license holders in a public setting are just as susceptible as anyone else to road rage incidents, the stress and injury of traffic accidents, crowd situations, demonstrations, family disputes, any other kind of disputes, being a victim of a crime or harassment, and any other stress-inducing circumstance outside of the home. Premise license holders have not demonstrated proper cause to carry a concealed handgun in public. Clearly, there is less public danger if Premises Residence license holders do not bring their firearms into the public domain.

3. The general government interest in this case is public safety.¹ This is done by limiting handgun access in public places. The need for the specific restriction at issue is explained by the realities of enforcement. Should New York City Premises Residence license holders be allowed to transport their firearms anywhere outside of the City for target practice or shooting competition, it would circumvent the proper cause requirement for issuance of a carry license and make it too easy for them to possess a licensed firearm while traveling in public, and then if discovered create an explanation about traveling for target practice or shooting competition.

4. If ranges anywhere in the State were authorized by New York City, then the perception that this simple deception could be effective would be reasonable. This perception, coupled with a desire to possess guns outside the home, would make it more likely that Premises Residence licensees would travel with their firearms where not authorized. Expanding authorized ranges to anywhere in the state would make it difficult, if not impossible, to monitor and enforce the restriction on guns outside the home.

5. When target practice and shooting competitions are limited to locations in New York City the ability to create such a fiction is limited. An NYPD officer on patrol can more easily determine whether the person is transporting the handgun directly to or from an authorized range within the City as well as compliance with the other provisions of 38 RCNY § 5-23(a)(3). The License Division can investigate the credibility of assertions made after the fact more effectively for incidents in New York City. This would not be the case if ranges outside the New York City were authorized. Law enforcement officers outside the City would not be in a position to determine if the person were transporting the handgun directly to or from any range outside the City because the license holder could pick from any number of distant ranges and make assertions about his/her chosen route. Nor would the reporting back from out-of-City law enforcement to the License Division be effective in this context for monitoring the activity and enforcing the general restriction on a Premises Residence license.

6. Because hunting is a highly regulated activity requiring specific authorizations, law enforcement can easily identify those operating outside these specific regulations. A hunting authorization is not carte blanche permission to Premises License holders to travel about New York State wherever and whenever they feel like it with their firearms. Law enforcement throughout the State are sensitive to the many precise hunting rules and requirements. The Premises Residence license holder must have a valid hunting license to get the hunting authorization as an amendment to their license. Although they maintain the amendment after the seasonal hunting license has expired, the authorization is only effective to allow transport and carry for hunting that is authorized pursuant to the New York State Fish and Wildlife Law (as stated on the authorization card). Thus law enforcement anywhere in the State would require the license holder to produce the New York City premise license, the separate hunting authorization card, a valid hunting license for the present season and area at issue, and knowledge of and compliance with many other rules specific to the game and area, such as weapon types, ammunition restrictions, game gender and size restrictions, time and day restrictions, dress restrictions, etc. There is no credible risk of creating a perception that the Premises Residence license holder can carry his/her guns and then just claim they were going hunting if stopped. An officer anywhere in the State could ask about game tags or myriad other specifics to test the credibility of the assertion. Furthermore, an assertion about hunting designed to justify possession of a handgun on a New York City license that is found to lack credibility is likely to be reported back to the NYPD License Division.

7. The existing regulation fully allows Premises Residence license holders to protect their premises, and is closely tied to the government interest in limiting handgun possession in the public arena.

The License Division

8. The Police Commissioner delegated his authority to the License Division to oversee the issuance and suspension of firearms licenses and permits. Currently there are 36,907 active licenses that have been issued by the NYPD License Division for the possession of handguns in New York City; and 21,107 active permits for the possession of rifles and shotguns.

9. The License Division currently processes an average of 3000 new applications and 9000 renewal applications for handgun licenses per year. The Rifle and Shotgun Section processes an average of 850 new applications and 5000 renewal applications for rifle and shotgun permits per year.

10. The License Division is divided into several different sections and units, and is overseen by a five member Executive Staff, that includes a director, deputy inspector (myself, as commanding officer), a captain (as executive officer), and two lieutenants.

11. The License Division has sections of staff established for various tasks. For example, there is an Intake Section, New Applications Section, Carry Guard Section, Retired Law Enforcement Section, Rifle/Shotgun Section, Issuing Section, Incident Section, Cancellation Section, Renewal Section, and Administrative Hearing Section. On average, the License Division's Incident Section has investigated 600 incidents of its handgun licensees per year and the Rifle/Shotgun Section another 150 incidents of rifle and shotgun permit holders.

Applications for Premises Residence Handgun Licenses

12. As with all handgun licenses processed by the License Division, when applicants apply for a Premises Residence license, they complete an application form that they submit to the License Division with photograph identification, and are fingerprinted. A copy of the Handgun License Application and Instruction Packet is annexed hereto as Exhibit "A."

13. The License Division's Handgun License Application Packet includes instructions on the handgun license application, a listing of the types of licenses for handguns issued by the License Division, an affidavit of familiarity with the handgun licensing laws to be signed by the applicant, an acknowledgement of the person agreeing to safeguard firearms, a pre-license exemption form, a list of persons prohibited from possessing firearms, copies of certain local law provisions, and an affidavit of co-habitants. See Exhibit "A."

14. In order to process an application for a Premises Residence license, each application is assigned for investigation. As is evident from the application itself, each applicant is asked questions about the applicant's citizenship, name change history, arrest and criminal conviction history, outstanding warrants, domestic violence history, the history of the issuance of Orders of Protection by or against the applicant, history of mental illness and related treatment, military service history, residence history including proof of current residence, driving history, licensing history, history of lost or stolen firearms, as well as any medical conditions that may affect an applicant's ability to safely possess or use a handgun. See Exhibit "A."

15. License Division staff investigate each applicant and review applications for completeness and accuracy, as well as to determine many state eligibility requirements, such as verifying that all statements in an application are true, that the applicant possesses "good moral character," and that "no good cause exists for denial." Follow up may include reaching out to various federal, state, and city agencies for information about the applicant's history, making requests for additional documentation to support statements made in the application, reviewing the New York State Division of Criminal Justice System ("DCJS") fingerprint response, mental health checks, and requesting further information regarding any arrests or convictions reported therein, and interviewing the applicant. Third parties may be interviewed to obtain relevant information.

16. When an investigator completes the investigation, the recommendation is forwarded to the unit supervisor who reviews the findings, and if complete, forwards the recommendation to the Commanding Officer of the License Division, or the Executive Officer on his behalf. The Commanding Officer then issues the final determination with respect to the issuance of all handgun license applications.

17. Licenses are valid for a three year period, and expire on the licensee's birthday. Prior to the conclusion of that period, a licensee seeking to renew a Premises Residence handgun license (and all other handgun licenses) must submit a renewal application to the License Division. The License Division then conducts an investigation into the information contained in the renewal application; and investigates whether there were any incidents that occurred during the license period that may affect the applicant's license renewal.

Application for a Carry Business License

18. Applicants for a Carry Business license use the same application form as that used by persons applying for the Premises Residence license. However, unlike the Premises Residence license, New York State Penal Law section 400.00(2)(f) requires applicants for the Carry Business license to demonstrate that "proper cause" exists to justify the issuance of a concealed carry license. In order to establish the existence of proper cause, the applicant must show that he/she has a need to carry a concealed firearm which is distinguishable from that of the general public, for example, the applicant carries large sums of cash or valuables on a regular basis or is exposed to extraordinary personal danger in daily life. Applicants who qualify for a New York City Carry Business license are authorized by the Penal Law to have and carry concealed firearms (with limited exceptions) anywhere in the State of New York.

19. The plaintiffs in this action seek to enlarge the statutory time and place restrictions imposed on Premises Residence licenses by the New York State Penal Law in order to allow them to transport their firearms to any small arms range outside the City of New York for target shooting. Such an extension would greatly expand the restrictions imposed by the Penal Law and in so doing would have a negative impact on public safety.

Incident Investigations of Active License Holders

20. All licensees are required by 38 RCNY § 5-30 to report incidents which may affect their license, including all arrests wherever it occurred. The License Division's Incident Section reviews the facts and circumstances regarding all incidents and makes recommendations as to whether to suspend or revoke a particular license. The License Division also receives reports from DCJS regarding all arrests made within the State of New York for which an arrestee is fingerprinted.

21. No formal report is forwarded to the License Division for summonses, desk appearance tickets, and other arrests and incidents for which a detainee is not fingerprinted outside of the City of New York. With respect to arrests made outside the State of New York or by the federal government, the License Division may be, but is not always notified of an arrest by the arresting jurisdiction.

22. The NYPD Department Manual (Interim Order 6, series 2013) includes a procedure for NYPD personnel to investigate and report incidents involving holders of handgun licenses and rifle/shotgun permits to the License Division Incident Section. Among other things, the procedure directs that if the holder has a Premises Residence license, the investigating supervisor must ascertain whether the handgun was possessed at the premise listed on the license at the time of the incident. If the licensee claims to have been traveling to or from an authorized range, the investigating supervisor must ascertain whether the handgun was unloaded in a locked container with ammunition carried separately, and whether the licensee was traveling directly to or from the range. A copy of Interim Order 6, series 2013, is annexed hereto as Exhibit "K."

23. The procedure also includes a list of the type of incidents involving holders of a handgun license or rifle/shotgun permit that require an investigation be conducted and reporting to the License Division Incident Section. The list, which is contained in the "Additional Data" section, includes the following: "Violating terms, conditions, or rules relating to the license/permit (including but not limited to carrying a firearm in public with a Premises Residence license, transporting a firearm on a Premises Residence license for use at an authorized range that is not unloaded in a locked box, and exceeding time or place restrictions on a Limited Carry license)." Exhibit "K."

History and Elimination of the New York City Target License

24. Although not specifically authorized by New York State Penal Law § 400.00, up until 2001, the License Division had issued a class of licenses called the "target license" to New York City residents. The Target License was eliminated for various reasons, including harmonizing the classifications of licensure in New York City with those specifically authorized by the Penal Law. The Target License was a category of firearm licenses issued only by the Police Department (under the theory that it was a conditional "carry license") and permitted the transport of a registered firearm, unloaded, to and from an authorized shooting range or club for regular recreational target shooting purposes.

25. One of the chief reasons that the Target License was eliminated in 2001 was the history of incidents experienced by the License Division of non-compliance with the limitations of the Target License. Over many years, myriad examples were reported to the License Division of licensees bearing Target Licenses travelling with their firearms when it was clear that they were not on the way to or from an authorized range. Examples included, licensees travelling with loaded firearms, licensees found with firearms nowhere near the vicinity of an authorized range, licensees taking their firearms on airplanes, and licensees travelling with their firearms during hours where no authorized range was open.

26. The License Division revoked many pistol licenses with target endorsement, such as that of Rafael Lugo, who was found to have violated 38 RCNY § 5-01(b) when his briefcase containing the pistol was reported stolen during a street robbery and there was no evidence to support Mr. Lugo's testimony that he was on his way to an authorized range. See Matter of Lugo v. Safir, 272 A.D.2d 216 (1st Dep't 2000). A copy of this decision is annexed hereto as Exhibit "B."

27. Over the years, there were several reported cases where licensees who held only Target licenses, or Premises Residence licenses with target endorsement, were charged with criminal possession of a weapon when found with their firearms while not en route to a range. However, Courts struggled to precisely define the restrictions associated with the target licenses. Although the Courts found that the defendants were engaged in activity in violation of the terms and conditions of their licenses, the Courts concluded that it was unclear if the defendants could be charged with criminal possession of a weapon without a license. See, e.g., People v. Thompson, 92 N.Y.2d 957 (1998); People v. Ocasio, 108 Misc.2d 211 (2d Dep't 1981); People v. Lap, 150 Misc.2d 724 (N.Y. Crim. Ct., N.Y. County 1991); People v. Schumann, 133 Misc.2d 499 (N.Y. Crim. Ct., Bronx County 1986). Copies of these cases are collectively annexed hereto as Exhibit "C."

28. The Police Commissioner through the License Division is best situated to evaluate the safety concerns with respect to different kinds of licenses. The abuses of the Target License led the Police Commissioner to promulgate rules that eliminated that license and converted existing Target Licenses into Premises Residence licenses, which allow for the same benefit, the transport of a firearm (locked and unloaded) to an authorized range.² See 38 RCNY § 5-23(a)(3).

Obtaining Approval as a New York City Authorized Range

29. In accordance with Administrative Code § 10-131(c), it is unlawful for anyone to discharge firearms in New York City anywhere other than places specifically designated by the New York City Police Commissioner. As such, the New York City Police Department (“NYPD”) has established a procedure for individuals or organizations to apply to the NYPD for a special designation to operate a small arms range in New York City.

30. Persons/entities interested in obtaining a designation by the Police Commissioner to operate an authorized small arms range, must submit an application to the NYPD for designation as an approved Small Arms Range in New York City. A copy of the application form, along with the detailed requirements all approved Small Arms Ranges must follow in New York City set forth on the back of the application form, is annexed hereto as Exhibit “D.”

31. On the application, the applicant must provide a name and residence for the applicant, a location for the proposed range, information about whether the proposed range is for an outdoor or indoor range and if indoor, where within a building the range would be located, information about any clubs or organizations the range is associated with, the type of weapons for which authorization is being sought, and other information. See Exhibit “D.”

² The rule also eliminated Special Target licenses. These were target licenses issued to persons who resided in other New York counties outside of New York City to target shoot in New York City. Those licenses were not replaced.

32. A background check is conducted for each applicant, and all persons/officers associated with any organizational or corporate entity applicant. In addition, for each application, the NYPD consults with the New York City Department of Buildings (“DOB”) for a complete review of the zoning, property and land use designations for the proposed site. For a full description of the process governing applicants for designation as Small Arms Ranges, a copy of NYPD Administrative Guide Procedure No. 321-09, issued June 1, 2005, is annexed hereto as Exhibit “E.”

33. Each application goes through a several step review and approval process, starting with the Commanding Officer of the local police precinct, to the License Division, the Borough Commander, the Commanding Officer of the Firearms and Tactics Section of the NYPD Police Academy, the Chief of the Department, the Deputy Commissioner, Legal Matters, and finally, designated by the Police Commissioner. As with all licenses issued by the NYPD public safety is the primary concern during the review. See Exhibit “E.”

34. The NYPD has specific requirements in place governing authorized Small Arms Ranges, including requirements that indoor facilities have appropriate sound absorbent materials in place to contain the noise, and specifics on how targets and firing booths must be set up to ensure the safety of patrons and employees of the authorized range. See Exhibit “D.” In addition, the Administrative Guide sets forth specific requirements governing operators of authorized Small Arms Ranges, that are to be explicitly listed in their approval letter, including: all ranges must keep a roster of the names and addresses of all persons using the range with the date and time noted, all ranges must follow all federal and New York City Fire Department laws pertaining to the storage and possession of ammunition and power, all ranges must allow only those with valid licenses to discharge weapons at their ranges, all ranges must keep their record, books, and membership rosters available for immediate inspection by NYPD officials, and all ranges must prominently display their designation letters. See Exhibit “E.”

35. Once an individual or entity has received a designation as an approved Small Arms Range in New York City, their designation may be suspended or revoked at any time for failure to comply with the terms of the designation, violation of any laws or rules, or any incidents which occur at the authorized range.

Authorized Ranges in New York City

36. Currently, there are eleven NYPD approved Small Arms Ranges in New York City. A listing of all designated New York City ranges is annexed hereto as Exhibit “F.”

37. Of these eleven approved ranges, located throughout the five boroughs of the City of New York, four such ranges are open to any members of the public, and five more are available for anyone to join and utilize. Regarding the distinction between membership and non-membership, ranges generally charge more for individual usage by non-members as compared to use by members. Thus, the distinction generally only relates to differing methods of payment for utilizing a range. The number and location of ranges is a function of the market and the demand within New York City. Applications for small arms ranges generally would not be disapproved unless they failed to meet the safety requirements described above.

38. The approved ranges open to the public regardless of affiliation with any clubs or membership are: (1) Westside Rifle & Pistol Range on West 20th Street in Manhattan; (2) Woodhaven Rifle & Pistol Range in Woodhaven, Queens; (3) Seneca Sporting Range, Inc. located in Ridgewood, Queens; and (4) Olinville Arms, Inc. located in the Bronx (though temporarily closed due to a fire). See Exhibit “F.”

39. In addition, the Staten Island Sportsmen's Club located at 170 Bloomfield Avenue, in Staten Island is also open to the public several days per week – although it is limited to skeet and trap, and only individuals with rifle and shotgun permits may shoot there.³ See Exhibit "F."

40. I understand that plaintiffs allege that the only New York City authorized range to allow members of the public to use their facility is the Westside Rifle & Pistol Range. However, based upon telephone calls made by officers within the License Division to the various ranges, this is incorrect. As detailed above, the License Division has learned that four handgun ranges and one rifle/shotgun range are open to the public and not limited to members.

41. Plaintiffs further allege that the remainder of the designated Small Arms Ranges are limited to those with membership in private gun clubs that have high application fees, membership fees, dues, and are limited in who may join. While the NYPD does not have specific information regarding the individual practices of all of the so-called private membership ranges in New York City, we are aware that, at least with respect to some of the ranges, membership is not difficult to obtain and the fees are reasonable⁴.

42. I also understand that plaintiffs are alleging that no authorized New York City Small Arms Range hold any competitive shooting events. However, we are aware that at least some New York City designated ranges do hold regular shooting competitions and other events. Specifically, the Richmond Borough Gun Club, located at 4775 Arthur Kill Road in Staten Island (of which plaintiff Romolo Colantone is President) notes on its website that it has weekly shooting events. Copies of printouts from relevant pages of the Richmond Borough Gun Club's website (www.richmondborogc.org) are collectively annexed hereto as Exhibit "H." In particular the website states that: "[v]arious rifle and pistol matches are held each week" at the range. Id. The website refers to regular steel challenge plate matches and bullseye matches, which are pistol and rifle shooting competitions (some of which are governed by rules of the National Rifle Association). Id. In addition, the website states that non-members of the gun club may access the range at certain times and to compete in certain competitions. Id.

43. In addition, the Staten Island Sportsmen's Club holds regularly scheduled trapshooting matches. A copy of a printout from the Staten Island Sportsmen's Club website (www.sitrap.org) indicating their match dates for 2013, is annexed hereto as Exhibit "I."

44. I also understand that plaintiffs state that the West Side Rifle & Pistol Range only allows public access to those who complete a background check and wait five days before scheduling a time to use the range. However, based on the information made available to officers of the License Division by representatives at the West Side Rifle & Pistol Range, this is incorrect. Anyone possessing a valid pistol license or rifle/shotgun permit may utilize the firing range with no waiting period. The criminal background check and five day waiting period applies to those who want to shoot .22 caliber rifles and do not have a New York City issued rifle/shotgun permit. Copies of relevant portions of the website for the West Side Rifle & Pistol Range (www.westsidepistolrange.com), are annexed hereto as Exhibit "J."

PRIOR HISTORY: [1] Appeal from an order of the Criminal Court of the City of New York, Kings County (Patrick W. McGinley, J.), entered November 15, 1979, which dismissed the accusatory instrument.

HEADNOTES

Crimes -- Criminal Possession of Weapon -- "Target Permit"

Since defendant possessed a "target permit" he may not be prosecuted for criminal possession of a weapon in the fourth degree (Penal Law, § 265.01) even though he was found in possession of the pistol when he was neither at nor in transit to or from a range; where the gravamen of the charge is "naked possession", as opposed to possession coupled with an intent to use the weapon unlawfully against another, and the person has a license to possess the weapon, the offense is not cognizable under section 265.01 of the Penal Law but should instead be prosecuted as a violation of the terms and conditions of the license (Penal Law, § 400.00, subd 15).

COUNSEL: Eugene Gold, District Attorney (Debra W. Petrover of counsel), for appellant.

Eagan & Rudnick (James E. Eagan of counsel), for respondent.

JUDGES: Concur: Pino, P. J., Jones and Kunzeman, JJ.

OPINION

MEMORANDUM.

Order dismissing information [*2] affirmed.

Defendant was charged with criminal possession of a weapon in the fourth degree (Penal Law, § 265.01). Concededly, although defendant possessed only a "target permit", he was found in possession of the pistol when he was neither at nor in transit to or from a range. Defendant argues, however, that since he possessed a license, albeit limited in scope, he is immune from prosecution by virtue of subdivision 3 of section 265.20 of the Penal Law. The People, on the other hand, maintain that possession of a weapon in violation of the terms and conditions of the license is tantamount to possession without a license.

Where, as here, the gravamen of the charge is "naked possession" as opposed to possession coupled with an intent to use the weapon unlawfully against another, the offense [*212] is not cognizable under section 265.01 of the Penal Law, if the person had a license to possess the weapon. Rather, if the weapon was possessed in violation of the terms and conditions of the license the proper vehicle for prosecution is subdivision 15 of section 400.00 of the Penal Law [*213] (see People v Serrano, 71 AD2d 258, lv to app granted 48 NY2d 987).

HEADNOTES

Crimes -- Possession of Weapon -- Violation of Target Pistol License Restrictions

A violation of target pistol license restrictions requiring that the pistol be carried unloaded and in a locked container cannot support a criminal prosecution based upon defendant's possession of the loaded target pistol in his automobile, since there is nothing in the licensing statute that restricts either the geographical area or the manner in which a target pistol may be carried; therefore, a charge that defendant violated Penal Law § 400.00 simply by carrying the subject pistol cannot be sustained. The target pistol license must be viewed not merely as a "possess" license with extended geographical boundaries, but as a "carry" license (Penal Law § 400.00 [2] [f]). Further, the license restrictions defendant is charged with violating are administratively promulgated by the Police Commissioner in his role as the licensing authority for the City of New York. Since such restrictions are neither mandated nor specifically authorized by Penal Law § 400.00, their violation, while warranting license revocation proceedings, will not support criminal prosecution.

OPINION BY: OBUS

Defendant Keung Li Lap stands charged in an information with violating subdivisions (6) and (7) of Penal Law § 400.00. The accusatory part of the instrument states that on October 3, 1990, defendant committed "criminal possession of a target pistol license" in that he "possessed a target pistol license [*725] which only authorized the defendant to use a gun for target practice but not to carry." The factual part reveals a bit more about the essence of this prosecution, alleging that defendant possessed a loaded .22 caliber handgun in his automobile while holding what is characterized as a "not for carry" target pistol license, a copy of which has been filed.

Defendant moves to dismiss this information contending that (1) a target pistol license is not one of the "types of licenses" defined in subdivision (2) of Penal Law § 400.00; (2) even if the license is one governed by section 400.00, the subdivisions he is [2] accused of violating merely set forth the circumstances under which a license is valid and the form it must take; and (3) as the license restrictions in question are administrative in nature, their violation may not be prosecuted criminally.

In apparent contradiction to the theory of the accusatory instrument, the People, in their affidavit in opposition to this motion, seem to concede that as the holder of a target pistol license, defendant was entitled to transport the subject pistol. They argue instead that the manner in which he carried it violated purportedly applicable restrictions of Penal Law § 400.00 (6) (a) and (b) "in that he possessed [in his automobile] a gun that was both loaded and not locked in a container." The People are mistaken.

150 Misc.2d 724, *, 570 N.Y.S.2d 258, **;
1991 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 228, ***

To begin, there is of course no such offense as "criminal possession of a target pistol license." Nor could subdivisions (6) and (7) of Penal Law § 400.00, respectively entitled "License: validity" and "License: form", be deemed to define any criminal offense in the absence of subdivision (15) of that section, not mentioned in the information, which renders a violation of any provision of Penal Law § 400.00 a class A misdemeanor. [3] But even if the information could be charitably construed to overcome these weaknesses, it must be dismissed for failing to allege sufficient facts to support any violation of the statute.

It is true that no reference to a "target pistol license" appears in Penal Law § 400.00 (2), which defines the seven basic types of gun licenses issuable in this State, some affording the right to possess a firearm in limited geographical areas and others affording certain persons, depending on their employment or other proper cause, the right to carry one. Nevertheless, the target license in question here does purport on its face to be "issued under article 400 [of the] Penal Law." Moreover, given the restrictions set forth on the license itself -- that the subject pistol be carried unloaded and in a locked [*726] container -- it can hardly be disputed that the license holder is expected [260] to carry the pistol to and from the target range. Thus, as was held in People v Schumann (133 Misc 2d 499, 501 [Crim Ct, Bronx County 1986]), such a license must be viewed not merely as a "possess" license with extended geographical boundaries, but as a "carry" license issued under [4] Penal Law § 400.00 (2) (f), to "have and carry concealed, without regard to employment or place of possession, by any person when proper cause exists for the issuance thereof". (See also, Hochreich v Codd, 68 AD2d 424, 425 [1st Dept 1979]; Federation of N. Y. State Rifle & Pistol Clubs v McGuire, 101 Misc 2d 104, 105 [Sup Ct, NY County 1979].) A charge that defendant violated Penal Law § 400.00 simply by carrying the subject pistol could not therefore be sustained.

This is not to say that a license holder who possesses a firearm in a place not authorized by law, outside the scope of one of the statutory employment categories, or in violation of some other provision of Penal Law § 400.00 may not be prosecuted under this section. (See, Penal Law § 400.00 [15], [17]; People v Schumann, supra, at 502-503; cf., People v Parker, 52 NY2d 935 [1981], revg on dissent of Birns, J., 70 AD2d 387, 391-394 [1st Dept 1979] [possession outside geographical limits of license not prosecutable under Penal Law art 265]; People v Ocasio, 108 Misc 2d 211 [App Term, 2d Dept 1981] [possession of target pistol while not in transit to or from range not [5] prosecutable under Penal Law art 265].) There is nothing in article 400, however, that restricts either the geographical area or the manner in which a target pistol may be carried.

Contrary to the People's argument, the requirements of subdivision (6) of section 400.00 that certain firearms be transported in locked containers have nothing at all to do with the matter at bar. Those restrictions, which are silent as to whether or not such firearms may be loaded, apply only to the holders of gun licenses issued outside of New York City who, in the absence of local permits, transport firearms under limited circumstances out of or through this city.

The license restrictions here, on the other hand, are administratively promulgated by the Police Commissioner in his role as the licensing authority for New York City. (See, Penal Law § 265.00 [10]; Administrative Code of City of New York § 10-131 [a] [1].) They are neither mandated nor specifically authorized by Penal Law § 400.00. Accordingly, their violation, [*727] while warranting license revocation proceedings, will not support criminal prosecution. As the court stated in People v Schumann (supra, at 503 [6] [emphasis in original]):

"It should be equally clear that no 'Law' (apart from department regulations) delimits the geographical area or specifically describes the 'terms and conditions' of possession by the holder of a target pistol license. As noted, Penal Law § 400.00 describes no such license. It is of course true that the Police Commissioner as the issuer of pistol licenses may, in discretion, make reasonable rules to be obeyed by those to whom he issues licenses (cf. Matter of Michaelson v New York City Police Dept., 53 AD2d 573 [The commissioner in his discretion may limit the use of a pistol by a licensed pistol carrier]).

"But the Police Commissioner cannot create new crimes."

It may well be preferable that the violation of gun license restrictions like the ones at issue here be treated as criminal offenses. Absent legislative action, however, such violations may not be incorporated into Penal Law § 400.00 by judicial preference. Defendant's motion to dismiss the accusatory instrument is granted.

HEADNOTES

Crimes -- Possession of Weapon -- Target Pistol

The misdemeanor complaint charging defendant, the holder of a valid target pistol license, with violating Penal Law § 400.00 (17) by possessing his target pistol while in his vehicle is dismissed. Penal Law § 265.20 (a) (3) exempts from weapons violation liability those who possess pistols or revolvers pursuant to a license issued as provided under Penal Law § 400.00, and the seven types of licenses described in that section do not include a target pistol license, which is issued to one who wants to engage in competitive or sport shooting at an authorized pistol range and obligates the holder to carry his weapon, unloaded and in a locked box, to and from the pistol range. There is no law delimiting the geographical area or specifically describing the terms and conditions of possession by the holder of a target pistol license and although the Police Commissioner, as the issuer of pistol licenses, may make reasonable rules to be obeyed by those to whom he issues licenses, he cannot create new crimes.

[*499] OPINION OF THE COURT

[350] On July 3, 1985, the defendant was arrested and charged [*500] with violating Penal Law § 400.00 (17). Defendant, the holder of a valid target pistol license, was accused of possessing the "aforementioned pistol in his vehicle, in violation of said restricted license".

The defendant has moved to dismiss the misdemeanor complaint pursuant to CPL 170.30 (1) (a); 170.35 (1) (a); and 100.40 (1) (b) on the ground that the factual recitation does not support the charge contained in the accusatory portion of the instrument.

A brief survey of the relevant statutes and police administrative procedures relating to weapons is necessary to understand the legal issues involved.

Penal Law § 265.02 states that it is a class D felony to possess any loaded firearm in any place other than one's "home or place of business". Here, the defendant was carrying a loaded gun in his vehicle, an offense which would seemingly be violative of Penal Law § 265.02. However, the same statute, Penal Law § 265.20 (a) (3), contains an almost total blanket exemption from [3] weapons violation liability (under Penal Law art 265) for those who possess pistols or revolvers and "to whom a license therefor has been issued as provided under section 400.00".

What licenses are provided for in Penal Law article 400?

Penal Law § 400.00 (2) describes seven types of pistol (or revolver) licenses; the basic distinction among them is the right to "have and possess" in a limited geographical area (e.g., in a dwelling or a place of business) as opposed to the right to "have and carry concealed"

133 Misc. 2d 499, *; 507 N.Y.S.2d 349, **;
1986 N.Y. Misc. LEXIS 2886, ***

(emphasis supplied), either in connection with one's specific employment or, as defined in Penal Law § 400.00 (2) (f), "have and carry concealed, without regard to employment or place of possession, by any person when proper cause exists for the issuance thereof". The seven types of weapons described contain no mention of the type involved here, viz., a target pistol license. That license is issued with specific restrictions by the Police Commissioner who is denoted licensing officer for the City of New York (Penal Law § 265.00 [10]). A target pistol license is issued to one who wants to engage in competitive or just-for-sport shooting at an authorized pistol [4] range. The holder is obliged to carry his weapon, unloaded, and in a locked box, to and from the pistol range. It may be noted, parenthetically, that the accusatory instrument here is not only inartfully drawn but is probably facially insufficient. Clearly, it is not a [*501] violation of a target pistol license to carry a pistol in "his vehicle". There is no requirement that one walk to the pistol range! Nor does the complaint here allege that the weapon was loaded or carried in any container other than a locked box. But there are more weighty legal concerns here than facial insufficiency.

The target license is not a "possess" license with extended geographical boundaries. While not too germane here, it is in reality a modified type of carry license, enabling one to carry a weapon without regard to employment but with limitations as to place of possession and terms of possession. It may only be carried to and from a pistol range and then only unloaded and in a locked container. The People's memorandum of law (26 pages) while insisting [351] that the target pistol license is essentially a hybrid between possession and carry types, realistically notes "left [5] open is the question of how, without a carry privilege, one may lawfully transport a weapon to the range". The target license, is viewed by the court as a carry type or Penal Law § 400.00 (2) (f) license (Federation of N.Y. State Rifle & Pistol Clubs v McGuire, 101 Misc 2d 104, 105; Hochreich v Codd, 68 AD2d 424).

The major cases in this area of the law have dealt with the question of the exemption from criminal liability under Penal Law article 265 for those who hold valid pistol licenses. In People v Parker (91 Misc 2d 363) Justice Milonas dismissed an indictment for violation of Penal Law § 265.03 (possession of a loaded firearm with intent to use the same unlawfully against another) in the case of a holder of a possess-at-home license who threatened his woman friend with the gun, on a city street. The Judge, ruefully, noted that Penal Law § 265.20 (a) (3) listed Penal Law § 265.03 as a section that did not apply to holders of pistol licenses. The Appellate Division reversed on the theory that one who violates the conditions of his pistol license is thereby transformed into an unlicensed possessor (People v Parker, 70 AD2d 387). Justice Birns dissented, [6] noting that the exemption statute was unequivocal and unambiguous and that the majority was ruling by "judicial fiat" and not in accordance with clear statutory requirements. The Court of Appeals reversed on the opinion by Justice Birns (People v Parker, 52 NY2d 935). In People v Serrano (71 AD2d 258 [1st Dept]), the court now upholding Justice Milonas, dismissed an indictment for unlawful possession of a loaded gun in a car where the owner had a possess-on-premises license. The court theorized that this was naked possession (*Penal Law § 265.02 [502] [4]) as opposed to the possession in Parker where the charge was Penal Law § 265.03 or possession under circumstances evincing an intent to use unlawfully against another. People v Serrano preceded the holding of the Court of Appeals in People v Parker (52 NY2d 935, supra) which renders Penal Law article 265 unusable against a holder of a valid pistol license. People v Serrano was affirmed on the same dissenting opinion of Justice Birns (52 NY2d 936). In People v Ocasio (108 Misc 2d 211), the Appellate Term, Second Department, held that a charge of Penal Law § 265.01 did not apply to a target [7] pistol licensee who was found to possess his gun other than in transit to or from a pistol range, essentially a similar fact pattern to that presented in this case. The court suggested however that where the "terms and conditions" of a license were violated, a charge of violation of Penal Law § 400.00 (15) might be appropriate. Justice Birns in his Parker dissent (People v Parker, 70 AD2d 387, 394, supra) suggested that where the gun was possessed outside the geographical area of the license, a charge of Penal Law § 400.00 (15) might lie.

Penal Law § 400.00 deals with the issuance of pistol licenses and describes the various types of licenses issued for possession in a given geographical location (home or place of business) or to be carried either in connection with one's employment or regardless of the nature of employment when proper cause exists for issuance. Penal Law § 400.00 (15) states that "[any] violation by any person of any provision of this section is a class A misdemeanor."

In 1980 (L 1980, ch 233, § 17, eff Aug. 13, 1980), the Legislature added subdivision (17) to Penal Law § 400.00. The first sentence of that new subdivision makes it clear [8] that article 265 relating to illegal possession of a firearm shall not apply to an offense which also constitutes a violation of this section (viz., Penal Law § 400.00). Such offense is punishable only as a class A misdemeanor pursuant to this section. In effect, the Legislature was reversing the Appellate Division decision in People v Parker (supra) and codifying the Birns dissent in Parker, which the Court of Appeals subsequently approved in People v Parker (52 NY2d 935, supra [Feb. 1981]).

[352] The second sentence of Penal Law § 400.00 (17) makes specific reference to another type of violation of Penal Law article 400 that was not to be punishable under the general weapons violation section (Penal Law art 265). One who possesses a valid pistol license but possesses it in a place "not [*503] authorized by law" (emphasis supplied) is potentially guilty only of a class A misdemeanor under Penal Law § 400.00.

The cases previously cited deal only peripherally with the question of what penalties may be meted out to those who violate the terms and conditions of their pistol licenses apart from penalties contained in Penal Law article 265. Thus, [9] in People v Parker (91 Misc 2d 363, 365, supra [Milonas, J.]), the court noted "The appropriate * * * remedy for the improper use of a weapon under the instant circumstances [i.e., possession of a weapon by a home-license possessor in a place other than his home] is the administrative procedure of license revocation". Justice Birns in his Appellate Division dissent in People v Parker (70 AD2d 387, 391-394, supra) suggested that the "outside the geographical area" offense might constitute a violation of Penal Law § 400.00 (15), i.e., a class A misdemeanor. The Appellate Term, Second Department, in People v Ocasio (supra) suggested that Penal Law § 400.00 (15) might be the appropriate sanction for one who violated the "terms and conditions" of his license.

It seems clear from case law, statute and good sense that one who holds a license to possess in his dwelling or place of business but takes the weapon outside his home or place of business violates Penal Law § 400.00 (17). He possesses it in a place "not authorized by law" (Penal Law § 400.00 [17]; emphasis supplied). The law specifically limits certain possession licenses to "dwelling" or "place [10] of business" (Penal Law § 400.00 [2] [a], [b]).

It should be equally clear that no "Law" (apart from department regulations) delimits the geographical area or specifically describes the "terms and conditions" of possession by the holder of a target pistol license. As noted, Penal Law § 400.00 describes no such license. It is of course true that the Police Commissioner as the issuer of pistol licenses may, in discretion, make reasonable rules to be obeyed by those to whom he issues licenses (cf. Matter of Michaelson v New York City Police Dept., 53 AD2d 573 ["The commissioner in his discretion may limit the use of a pistol by a licensed pistol carrier"]).

But the Police Commissioner cannot create new crimes.

Justice Birns characterized as "judicial fiat" and unacceptable the holding by his colleagues in People v Parker (supra). Here, by administrative fiat, the police department is attempting to engraft onto Penal Law § 400.00 provisions that the law [*504] itself does not contain. Assuming (far-fetched, of course) the police department decided that a householder could only possess a weapon in a specific room of one's house (e.g., kitchen or bedroom). [11] While such a provision could conceivably be warranted as within the power of the Police Commissioner to make reasonable regulations for house possession, the failure to obey such a regulation, while it might lead to a sustainable license revocation, could not be transformed into a violation of law, specifically of Penal Law § 400.00 (17). The possibilities are endless in the case of target pistol licensees. Suppose a target licensee, on the way to the range, stopped off at his mother's house for a visit or a chat. Suppose he thereafter decided not to shoot that day at all and just went home. Would he be violating the law? Or suppose the lock of the target holder's box were broken. Would he violate the law? The Police Commissioner may regulate but he may not legislate. *

* To be distinguished are those instances in which heads of agencies, in accordance with specific enabling legislation, make regulations that have the force and effect of law (traffic, health, transit regulations).

The accusatory instrument [12] is dismissed.

Firearms command a greater respect than most things encountered in our daily lives. Nearly all things have the ability to be misused and the potential to harm. Yet as with most of those things, with respect and proper use firearms are tools in many internationally participated sports. Attention to safety, maturity, understanding of applied physics, and one's physical condition and control of muscle, breathing, heart rate, and mental focus are all elements critical to basic marksmanship and firearms safety and awareness. As challenging as mastering the basic elements of marksmanship are, shooting sports can be a fun opportunity for participants of all ages for learning, focus, and comradery. Shooting sports are of the very few sports where age, gender, and physical ability are not factors in success and where great diversity often compete on the same line.

New York City has some of the most stringent firearms ownership and usage requirements in the nation. Legal and legitimate firearms use should not be confused or compared with illegal firearms ownership and use in criminal activity. Furthermore, firearms education and participation in sanctioned competitions at bonafide ranges fosters safety, maturity, and respect not depicted in movies or video games.

Marksmanship skills have been supported by numerous organizations for over one hundred years in America. There are many shooting disciplines that are fun and exciting and are all based in firearms safety, respect, and focus. We encourage anyone interested in firearms use to get involved with a range, get as much education as you can, and participate in formal matches and competition.

The NYS DEC will be hosting their 16th annual Youth Waterfowl Program in November. This is a two-day class to teach junior hunters, ages 12-15, about waterfowl hunting and the Long Island waterfowling tradition. The instructional day will be held on November 2nd and will include hunting ethics and regulations, waterfowl identification, firearms safety, trap shooting, cold water safety and survival, retriever demonstrations, decoys, hunting techniques, and more. The second day will be an actual waterfowl hunt guided by the instructors (up to two junior hunters per blind) in either Hubbard County or Southaven County Parks. The date of the hunt will be set when the 2013-14 Waterfowl Seasons/Youth Hunting Days are established.

This is a great program to introduce young hunters to waterfowling and is completely free. For the hunting day, the parks will be open only to the program participants giving them a truly special opportunity before the regular season opens. Participants must complete a Hunter Safety course, have their Junior Hunter License, and register with the Harvest Information Program (HIP #) before November. Sportsman Education classes are limited and fill up quickly so check the NYS DEC website for HS course dates and locations and take the class as soon as possible. (Sportsman Education courses are a minimum of 10-hours usually held over 2-3 days. Participants must attend ALL class hours and pass a written exam to earn the HS Certificate.)

The program is limited to 30 participants. For more information and to register call the Sportsman Education Office at Certified Sportsman Education Instructors and NYS DEC Conservation Officers teach the program that is made possible through DEC's collaboration with the NYS Conservation Officers Association, Suffolk County Department of Parks, Recreation, and Conservation, Ducks Unlimited, and the South Shore Waterfowlers Association.

About Youth Waterfowl Days:

Each year, two days are set outside the regular duck hunting season in each waterfowl zone, when any junior hunter may hunt ducks and geese. On these Youth Waterfowl Days, junior hunters (ages 12 to 15) must be accompanied by a licensed adult hunter. Adults cannot hunt during these two days.

Hello all,

Here is a link to the NYS, NY Secure Ammunition and Firearms Enforcement Act of 2013:

<http://open.nysenate.gov/legislation/bill/S2230-2013>

Questions and answers at this site from the Governor's office:

<http://www.governor.ny.gov/2013/gun-reforms-faq>

Signed January 15, 2013. It includes several changes to create and strengthen penalties for illegal firearms use, provides for additional measures to restrict persons who cannot legally purchase firearms from getting access to them including background checks for all firearms transfers and reporting individuals with certain mental illnesses, and provides for support to make schools safer. It will ban many firearms considered assault weapons under new tighter guidelines (already banned within NYC) and require registration and licensing for the rest of NY State. Licenses will have a maximum renewal term of 5-years. Currently owned assault weapons (by the new guidelines) may be kept if registered but when sold must go to an FFL or out of state.

The big stuff affecting everyone is a statewide magazine capacity of 7-rounds, 10-round magazines can be used providing they are only loaded with a maximum of 7-rounds, all previously grandfathered larger capacity magazines are prohibited. Tubular rimfire magazines are still ok and it appears that you may load 10-rounds at a range if participating in a recognized competition.

All person to person (other than within a family) firearms sales/transfers must have a background check. All ammunition sales will require a background check and mail order ammo must go through a local vendor for a background check and face-to-face sale (I don't know if will include CMP sales). There are also provisions for tracking "large" ammunition purchases. The law provides a maximum fee of $10 that FFL's can charge to process the background checks but they are not required to perform this service.

Please check out the bill and the the Q&A and get familiar with changes.

"A strong body makes the mind strong. As to the species of exercises, I advise the gun. While this gives moderate exercise to the body, it gives boldness, enterprise and independence to the mind. Games played with the ball, and others of that nature, are too violent for the body and stamp no character on the mind. Let your gun, therefore, be the constant companion of your walks."

History of the Richmond Boro Gun Club

| Print | Email

Founded in 1936, The Kreischerville Gun Club, with a range on Arthur Kill Road in Kreischerville, now called Charleston was the predecessor of the Richmond Boro Gun Club.

The Club was reorganized in 1940 and after the adoption of its Constitution and By-Laws and was chartered as the Richmond Boro Gun Club by the National Rifle Association on June 18, 1940. This reorganization helped the Club develop a more active interest in shooting and brought about participation in the Winchester League, which had a membership of eight clubs.

The Richmond Boro Gun Club was incorporated under the laws of New York State on March 25, 1943.

In October, 1944, a pre-induction training course was instituted by Richmond Boro under the auspices of the NRA to train young men entering the military in basic firearms familiarization and marksmanship. This course continued until the end of World War Two.

In 1944 the Colonial Rifle and Revolver Club purchased the property used by the club leaving Richmond Boro without range facilities. In the spirit of sportsmanship, the Robin Hood Club made its range available to Richmond Boro until 1947, when the club leased property on Clay Pit Road for a two-year period.

By 1959, the Club, with a membership of 120 members, had a 40 point rifle range with a covered firing line for 50 and 100 yard shooting, six 100 yard benchrest positions, and twelve 25 yard pistol positions. Subsequent small property purchases bought the total range parcel to 9.25 acres.

In 1977, the land occupied by the range was designated for inclusion in the newly established Clay Pit Pond State Park and the Club was forced to make plans to move from the Clay Pit Road site, a location where it had been for over 40 years. In January 1979, with the support of several elected officials, the City Planning Commission pledged its support to find a viable solution for the continuing operation of the Club. After several properties were investigated, we were able to locate a new range site on Arthur Kill Road and just north of the Outerbridge Crossing. This property was purchased in December 1983. In December of 1990, the New York City Police Department issued the Club a permit to operate a firing range and in June of 1991 the Club opened its first phase of its new facility—the 50-meter range. On July 28, 2001, after 10 more years of construction, the 100 meter range was opened to members.

Richmond Boro Gun Club now has approximately 300 members, conducts matches in various rifle, pistol, and archery categories throughout the year. Public/non-member participation is provided through sighting-in days, turkey shoots, Boy Scout firearms training, hunter education and other basic firearms training .

In an effort to keep current and satisfy member's interest, in the Spring of 2011 the Club completed a renovation of one of the range facilities and created a 50-yard pistol range for Steel Challenge/Static Steel competition and practice.

Handgun Competition

| Print | Email

At Richmond Boro Gun Club we host weekly competitions in Conventional Pistol (Bullseye) at our 24 station/50 yard pistol range. A variety of Bullseye matches are held every Sunday either at 9:00am or 10:00am. We also host a monthly Revolver match at 9:00am on the second Saturday of the month and a 50-foot, 60-round .22 match on Wednesday nights twice a month.

New for 2011, a 50 yard range for Steel Challenge steel plate matches. The Steel Challenge Range is available to members for practice and fun sunrise to sunset when matches are not held. Several plates and arrangements are available for use. In 2012 we will host monthly Steel Challenge matches on the third Saturday of each month at 9:00am. For registered competitions we will add stages in other ranges at RBGC.

Bullseye Matches

Bullseye matches follow the NRA rules for Conventional Pistol. Precision one-handed target shooting at distances of 50-feet, 25-yards and 50-yards. Challenging, fun, and all levels of shooter are welcome to participate. These matches follow a course of fire of Slow Fire (10 rounds fired in 10 minutes, Timed Fire (two strings of 5 rounds fired in 20 seconds each), and Rapid Fire (two strings of 5 rounds fired in 10 seconds each). Matches consist of 60 or 90 rounds per gun.

No more than 5 rounds shall be loaded at a time.

REMOVAL OF FIREARMS FROM LICENSEE/PERMIT HOLDER

The Department has broad authority to remove firearms and temporarily suspend a license/permit during the investigation of an incident as outlined above. Prior conferral with the License Division, Incident Section is not required in order to remove firearms and a license/permit from a licensee or permit holder. Members are reminded that public safety is the overriding concern when considering the removal of a licensed firearm.

If the firearm cannot be readily obtained at the time the decision to remove firearm is made, the licensee or permit holder shall be advised that he or she must surrender said firearm(s) pursuant to License Division regulations, and shall be given an opportunity to surrender them voluntarily. In the case of an arrest, or an Order of Protection, or any assessment of imminent danger, if the firearm(s) cannot be obtained by consent, and there is probable cause to believe that they are in a particular location, a search warrant will be obtained prior to seizure of the firearm(s), unless exigent circumstances justify an immediate seizure. The supervisor assigned will make every effort to obtain the firearm(s) either by consent or with a search warrant.

In all cases, the investigating supervisor and reporting officer(s) must be made available upon request of the License Division investigators to discuss the incident and provide assistance during follow-up investigations and possible hearings at the License Division.

A check of the Automated License Permit System (ALPS) can be conducted to determine whether a person (or any person at a given address) has an active handgun license or rifle/shotgun permit. Members of the service can access the system through the Department's Intranet site under "NYPD Applications."
