The California Department of Justice, Bureau of Firearms adopted various regulations purporting to implement recent amendments to California's "Assault Weapon Control Act" without adhering to the processes generally required under the Administrative Procedure Act. Appellants contend that several of those regulations are invalid either because the Department was required to go through the Administrative Procedure Act's rulemaking process in adopting them—which it undisputedly did not—or because they unlawfully alter the scope of statutory law. Respondents contend that each of the challenged regulations was statutorily exempt from the Administrative Procedure Act and that none of them unlawfully alters the scope of statutory law.

17	I. INTRODUCTION
18	The Plaintiff's First Amended Verified Petition for Writ of
19	Mandate and Complaint for Declaratory and Injunctive Relief came
20	on for hearing on May 25, 2018, in Department 501 of the Fresno
21	County Superior Court, the Honorable Mark W. Snauffer, Judge,
22	Presiding. Appearing for the Plaintiffs was Sean A. Brady of
23	Michel & Associates, P.C. Appearing for Respondents and
24	Defendants was P. Patty Li, Deputy Attorney General, Department of
25	Justice, California Attorney General's Office.
26	Following argument, the Court took the matter under
27	advisement. After reviewing the entire record, and considering

1 the arguments of counsel, the Court denies the petition for the 2 reasons set forth below.

II. BACKGROUND

This case was originally a complaint for declaratory and injunctive relief; at the hearing on the demurrer and preliminary injunction, the Court found that Plaintiffs were challenging an administrative decision of the Department of Justice ("DOJ"), and so must seek writ relief. Plaintiffs then filed the first amended petition for writ of mandate and complaint for declaratory and injunctive relief, on March 21, 2018.

11 The basis of Plaintiffs' challenges is the manner in which 12 Defendant DOJ promulgated regulations implementing a new 13 registration process for "bullet-button assault weapons." 14 Plaintiffs allege Defendant DOJ's Bureau of Firearms ("BOF") has 15 promulgated and is enforcing regulations that go beyond the 16 authority granted to it by the Legislature, without adhering to 17 the state's Administrative Procedure Act ("APA"). Basically, 18 Plaintiffs allege that the challenged regulations concern what 19 must be registered, rather than (as allowed by an APA exemption) 20 how to register, without the APA-required public input.

The Assault Weapons Control Act (Pen. Code §§ 30500, et seq.)
restricts the possession, purchase, sale, manufacture, and distribution of "assault weapons." New assault weapons are prohibited by law from entering the market; however, previously owned assault weapons are "grandfathered" in as long as they are registered with the DOJ. (Pen. Code §§ 30660, 30675.)

27 Plaintiffs here challenge the expanded definition of "assault"
28 weapon." The new (revised) definition of "assault weapon"

SUPERIOR COURT County of Fresno 3

1	includes those with a "bullet button" - a magazine release device
2	on a firearm, requiring the use of a tool (which can be a bullet
3	or ammunition cartridge) to remove the magazine from the firearm.
. 4	This feature is also called a magazine lock. Prior to the new
5	regulations, "bullet button" weapons did not have to be registered
6	with DOJ because they were not within the old definition of
7	"assault weapon," which was defined as a weapon that had "the
· 8	capacity to accept a detachable magazine," as well as one or more
· 9	of some other specified characteristics. (See former Pen. Code
10	$30515.) As of January 17, 2017, a weapon that "does not have a
11	fixed magazine" is an "assault weapon;" a "fixed magazine" is "an
12	ammunition feeding device contained in, or permanently attached
13	to, a firearm in such a manner that the device cannot be removed
14	without disassembly of the firearm action." (Pen. Code §30515.)
15	Governor Brown signed SB 880 and AB 1135 in July 2016,
16	broadening the state's assault weapons ban; the effective date was
17	January 1, 2017. In December 2016, the DOJ submitted a first
18	draft of the regulations, via the Office of Administrative Law's
19	"file and print" process, which is used where the APA's public
20	notice and comment requirements are inapplicable. This December
21	attempt was withdrawn by the DOJ after opposition letters were
22	submitted. Later, DOJ re-submitted the regulations, again via
23	"file and print;" these were rejected by the Office of
24	Administrative Law ("OAL") about a month after submission. The
25	third time was the charm - the DOJ again submitted the regulations
26	via "file and print" (this third version was allegedly nearly
27	identical to the second version) and this version was approved by 28

the OAL in July 2017. This is the description on the BOF's 1 website of the new regulations: 2 3 Pursuant to Assembly Bill 1135 (Stats. 2016, ch. 40) and Senate Bill 880 (Stats. 2016, ch. 48) effective 4 January 1, 2017, the definition of assault weapon is revised. 5 These bills require that any person who, from January 1, 2001, to December 31, 2016, inclusive, lawfully 6 possessed an assault weapon that does not have a fixed 7 magazine, as defined in Penal Code section 30515, including those weapons with an ammunition feeding 8 device that can be readily removed from the firearm with the use of a tool, shall register the firearm 9 before January 1, 2018, but not before the effective date of the regulations adopted by the DOJ. 10 (https://oag.ca.gov/firearms.) 11 [Note: the deadline to register has been extended to June 30, 12 2018.] 13 The definition of "assault weapon" was thus changed from a 14 firearm with a "detachable magazine" and certain features, to one 15 that "that does not have a fixed magazine." In effect, this means 16 that under the previous regulations, a weapon was not an "assault 17 weapon" if the magazine could only be released with the use of a tool (which oftentimes is a bullet, hence "bullet button" - the 18 release button is housed in a recessed area that can only be 19 20 reached with the use of a tool); but under the new regulations, a 21 firearm equipped with a bullet button will be considered an 22 assault weapon, due to it not having a fixed magazine; a "fixed 23 magazine" means that the magazine can only be removed by 24 disassembling the entire firearm. 25 Registrations must be submitted via the internet; registrants 26 must provide fairly specific information, including 4 or more 27 photos of the firearm, proof of residency if submitting a joint. 28 application, serial number on the firearm, date and place of 1 acquisition, as well as personal identification information (name, 2 address, email address, etc.).

The Office of Administrative Law (OAL) is charged with, among other functions, enforcing the requirement that administrative agencies adopt regulations according to APA procedures. (Gov. Code §§ 11340.2, 11340.5(b).) If the OAL is notified or learns that an administrative agency is implementing a regulation that was not properly adopted under the APA, the OAL must investigate, make a determination, and publish its conclusions. (Gov. Code §11340.5(c).)

A regulation that is found to have been improperly adopted is sometimes called an "underground regulation," and may be determined by a court to be invalid because it was not adopted in substantial compliance with APA procedures. (Patterson Flying Service v. Department of Pesticide Regulation (2008) 161 Cal.App.4th 411, 429; see Cal. Code Regs., tit. 1 §250.)

17 Plaintiffs argue the regulations illegally expand the scope of the statutes they purport to implement; the illegality is 18 19 alleged to be Defendants' failure to follow the APA's requirement 20 of public notice/comment, as Defendants proceeded via the "file 21 and print" process, which bypasses public notice and comment. 22 Plaintiffs state the result is that they are being forced to 23 choose between giving up their rights to their property (guns now 24 considered assault weapons) or place themselves in criminal 25 jeopardy for owning an unregistered firearm that, Plaintiffs 26 argue, is not an "assault weapon" under the statute, but has 27 become one under the challenged regulations.

Defendants submit that they were not required to abide by the APA in implementing the challenged regulations, because the regulations simply implement the statute (re: registration of assault weapons), meaning they are expressly exempt from the APA public input procedure.

Plaintiffs seek writ relief, as well as declaratory and injunctive relief. Defendants are in opposition.

III. DISCUSSION

A. Administrative Procedure Act ("APA")

10 The APA was enacted to establish basic minimum procedural 11 requirements for the adoption, amendment, or repeal of 12 administrative regulations promulgated by administrative agencies. 13 (Gov. Code $11346(a).) Accordingly, where "a rule constitutes a 14 regulation within the meaning of the APA ... it may not be adopted, 15 amended, or repealed except in conformity with basic minimum 16 procedural requirements that are exacting. The agency must give the public notice of its proposed regulatory action; issue a 17 18 complete text of the proposed regulation with a statement of the 19 reasons for it; give interested parties an opportunity to comment 20 on the proposed regulation; respond in writing to public comments; 21 and forward a file of all materials on which the agency relied in 22 the regulatory process to the Office of Administrative Law, which 23 reviews the regulation for consistency with the law, clarity, and 24 necessity. Any regulation or order of repeal that substantially 25 fails to comply with these requirements may be judicially declared 26 invalid." (Morning Star Co. v. State Bd. of Equalization (2006) 38 Cal.4th 324, 333, internal citations and quotation marks 27 omitted; Tidewater Marine Western, Inc. v. Bradshaw (1996) 14 28

3 An administrative agency "is not limited to the exact 4 provisions of a statute" in adopting regulations to enforce its 5 mandate; an absence of specific statutory provisions regarding the 6 regulation of an issue does not mean that such a regulation 7 exceeds statutory authority. (PaintCare v. Mortensen (2015) 233 8 Cal.App.4th 1292, 1307, and cases cited; Lavin v. California Horse 9 Racing Bd. (1997) 57 Cal.App.4th 263, 268 [it is a "well-settled 10 principle of administrative law that in the absence of an express 11 statutory directive to the contrary, an administrative agency may 12 exercise its discretion in selecting the methodology by which it 13 will implement the authority granted to it."].). An agency is 14 authorized to "fill up the details" of the statutory scheme. 15 (Paintcare, supra, 233 Cal.App.4th at p. 268, quoting Ford Dealers 16 Assn. v. Department of Motor Vehicles (1982) 32 Cal.3d 347, 362, 17 internal quotation marks omitted; see also California School Bds. 18 Assn. v. State Bd. of Education (2011) 191 Cal.App.4th 530, 544; 19 Batt v. City and County of San Francisco (2010) 184 Cal.App.4th 20 163, 171, 174; Masonite Corp. v. County of Mendocino Air Quality 21 Management Dist. (1996) 42 Cal.App.4th 436, 445-447.) In other 22 words, the Legislature may, after declaring a policy and fixing a 23 primary standard, confer upon an administrative officer the power 24 to "fill up the details" by prescribing administrative rules and 25 regulations to promote the purposes of the legislation and to 26 carry it into effect. (Coastside Fishing Club v. California 27 Resources Agency (2008) 158 Cal.App.4th 1183, 1205; see People v. 28 Wright (1982) 30 Cal.3d 705, 713 [standards for administrative 17CECG03093-MWS

1 application of statute need not be expressly set forth; may be
2 implied by purpose of statute].)

3 "The interpretation of a regulatory statute is, in the first 4 instance, the duty of an administrative agency charged with its 5 enforcement. Although final responsibility for interpretation of 6 the law rests with the courts, the construction of the law by an 7 administrative agency charged with its enforcement is entitled to 8 great weight." (B. C. Cotton, Inc. v. Voss (1995) 33 Cal.App.4th 9 929, 951; County of Sacramento v. State Water Resources Control 10 Bd. (2007) 153 Cal.App.4th 1579, 1587 [where regulation is 11 ambiguous, is appropriate to consider agency's interpretation; 12 "[i]ndeed, we defer to an agency's interpretation of a regulation 13 involving its area of expertise, " unless it "flies in the face of 14 the clear language and purpose" of its interpretive provision]; 15 Communities for a Better Environment v. State Water Resources 16 Control Bd. (2003) 109 Cal.App.4th 1089, 1104 [same].) As a 17 general matter, courts "tend to interpret the meaning of statutes 18 broadly so as to uphold regulations[.]" (California Practice 19 Guide (TRG Dec. 2017 update): Administrative Law Ch. 17-B.) 20 Moreover, the persuasiveness of the agency's interpretation 21 "increases in proportion to the expertise and special competence 22 that are reflected therein, including any evidence that the 23 interpretation was carefully considered at the highest 24 policymaking level of the agency." (Alvarado v. Dart Container 25 Corporation of California (2018) 4 Cal.5th 542, 558.) 26 Notwithstanding the foregoing, an agency is restricted to

"only as much rulemaking power" as is invested in it by the authorizing statute. (Carmel Valley Fire Protection Dist. v.

. 1	State of California (2001) 25 Cal.4th 287, 299, and cases cited.)
. 2	Where the APA applies, administrative policies that are not
3	adopted in accordance with its requirements are void regulations
4	and are not entitled to any deference. (Alvarado v. Dart
5	Container Corporation of California (2018) 4 Cal.5th 542, 556; see
6	PaintCare, supra, 233 Cal.App.4th at p. 1306 [regulations that are
.7	inconsistent with, alter, amend, enlarge or impair scope of,
8	authorizing statute are void].) "But 'void,' in this context,
9	does not necessarily mean wrong. If the policy in question is
10	interpretive of some governing statute or regulation, a court
11	should not necessarily reject the agency's interpretation just
12	because the agency failed to follow the APA in adopting that
13	interpretation; rather, the court must consider independently how
.14	the governing statute or regulation should be interpreted. 'If,
15	when we agreed with an agency's application of a controlling law,
16	we nevertheless rejected that application simply because the
17	agency failed to comply with the APA, then we would undermine the
18	legal force of the controlling law. Under such a rule, an agency
19	could effectively repeal a controlling law simply by reiterating
. 20	all its substantive provisions in improperly adopted
21	regulations[.]'" (Alvarado, supra, 4 Cal.4th at pp. 556-557.) If
22	there is doubt regarding the applicability of the APA's
23	requirements, it should be resolved in favor of the APA. (Morales

B. Writ of Mandate

Where a party challenges a regulation on the ground that it is in conflict with the governing statute or exceeds the lawmaking authority delegated by the Legislature, the issue of statutory 1 2 construction is a question of law on which a court exercises 3 independent judgment. (PaintCare, supra, 233 Cal.App.4th 1292, 4 1303; see Gov. Code $11342.2.) Though mandamus will not lie to 5 control discretion exercised by a public agency, it will lie to 6 correct an abuse of discretion by a public agency. (County of Los 7 Angeles v. City of Los Angeles (2013) 214 Cal.App.4th 643, 654; 8 Palmer v. Fox (1953) 118 Cal.App.2d 453, 457.) Specifically, 9 mandamus may issue to compel a governmental entity to exercise its 10 discretion under a proper interpretation of the applicable law. 11 (Common Cause v. Board of Supervisors (1989) 49 Cal.3d 432, 442; 12 see Code Civ. Proc. §1085.)

13 "In determining whether a public agency has abused its 14 discretion, the court may not substitute its judgment for that of 15 the agency, and if reasonable minds may disagree as to the wisdom 16 of the agency's action, its determination must be upheld. A court 17 must ask whether the public agency's action was arbitrary, 18 capricious, or entirely lacking in evidentiary support, or whether 19 the agency failed to follow the procedure and give the notices the 20 law requires. In applying this extremely deferential test, a [1] .21 court must ensure that an agency has adequately considered all 22 relevant factors, and has demonstrated a rational connection 23 between those factors, the choice made, and the purposes of the 24 enabling statute." (County of Los Angeles, supra, 214 Cal.App.4th 25 at p. 654, internal citations and quotation marks omitted.)

As summarized by the California Supreme Court:

An agency interpretation of the meaning and legal effect of a statute is entitled to consideration and respect by the courts; however, unlike quasilegislative regulations adopted by an agency to which the Legislature has confided the power to "make law," and which, if authorized by the enabling legislation, bind this and other courts as firmly as statutes

1 themselves, the binding power of an agency's interpretation of a statute or regulation is 2 contextual: Its power to persuade is both circumstantial and dependent on the presence or 3 absence of factors that support the merit of the interpretation. [...] The appropriate degree of judicial 4 scrutiny in any particular case is perhaps not susceptible of precise formulation, but lies somewhere 5 along a continuum with nonreviewability at one end and independent judgment at the other. Quasi-legislative 6 administrative decisions are properly placed at that point of the continuum at which judicial review is 7 more deferential; ministerial and informal actions do not merit such deference, and therefore lie toward the 8 opposite end of the continuum. 9 Courts must, in short, independently judge the text of the statute, taking into account and respecting the 10 agency's interpretation of its meaning, of course, whether embodied in a formal rule or less formal 11 representation. Where the meaning and legal effect of a statute is the issue, an agency's interpretation is 12 one among several tools available to the court. Depending on the context, it may be helpful, 13 enlightening, even convincing. It may sometimes be of little worth. Considered alone and apart from the 14 context and circumstances that produce them, agency interpretations are not binding or necessarily even 15 To quote the statement of the Law authoritative. Revision Commission in a recent report, "The standard 16 for judicial review of agency interpretation of law is the independent judgment of the court, giving 17 deference to the determination of the agency appropriate to the circumstances of the agency 18 action." 2016, inclusive, lawfully possessed an assault weapon that does not have a fixed magazine, as defined in Section 30515, including those weapons with an ammunition feeding device that can be readily removed from the firearm with the use of a tool, shall register the firearm before July 1, 2018, but not before the effective date of the regulations adopted pursuant to paragraph (5), with the department pursuant to those procedures that the department may establish by regulation pursuant to paragraph (5). Penal Code section 30515 provides that "[n]otwithstanding section 30510, 'assault weapon' also means any of the following:" wherein it then lists (1) a semiautomatic, centerfire rifle that does not have a fixed magazine but has any one of the following, with a list of six features; (2) a semiautomatic, centerfire rifle that has a fixed magazine with the capacity to accept more than 10 17CECG03093-MWS

10	IV. ANALYSIS
11	Plaintiffs argue that (1) Defendants exceeded the scope of	ĺ
12	the APA-exemption with regard to promulgating, regulations that
13	implement Penal Code section 30900, and (2) the resulting
14	regulations are invalid, as a result of Defendants' failure to go
15	through the APA notice and comment procedure, choosing instead to
16	use the "file and print" method, which does not require public
17	input. Plaintiffs summarize their argument as: Defendants were
18	exempt from the APA in promulgating regulations directing how to
19	register firearms, but instead promulgated regulations that
20	provide what to register, illegally enlarging the definition of
21	"assault weapon."
22	Plaintiffs argue that Defendants' interpretation of section
23	30900(b)(1), namely, that it includes bullet button shotguns, is
24	erroneous, because there is no statute providing that bullet
25	button shotguns are "assault weapons."
26	In response, Defendants argue that the new amendments to the
.27	AWCA established "a new registration process for 'bullet-button'
28	assault weapons" (Opp. 6:17-18); and that as of January 1, 2017,

2 fixed magazine" (Id. at lines 20-21). Defendants then refer to З the Legislative history. The documents submitted include language 4 such as: 5 SB880 will make our communities safer and upholds our commitment to reduce gun violence in California by closing 6 the bullet button loophole in California's Assault Weapons Ban. (RJN, Exh. 1 at 3; exh. 2 at 3; exh. 5 at 6, bold 7 added.) 8 This bill seeks to address the issue regarding the definition of an assault weapon as it pertains to what 9 constitutes a "detachable magazine." Regulations promulgated after the enactment of SB 23 define a 10 detachable magazine as, "any ammunition feeding device that can be removed readily from the firearm with neither 11 disassembly of the firearm action nor use of a tool being required. A bullet or ammunition cartridge is considered 12 a tool." (11 CFR § 5469(a)) In response to this definition, features such as the "bullet button" have been 13 developed by firearms manufacturers that enable easy detachment of a magazine with the use of a "tool" and are 14 thus not classified as a "detachable magazine." As a result, firearms with features such as the "bullet button" 15 do not fall within the current definition of an assault weapon. (RJN, Exh. 3 at 2, emphasis added.) 16 High-capacity detachable ammunition magazines allow 17 shooters to expel large amounts of ammunition quickly and have no sporting purpose. (Id. at Exh. 2, p. 5.) 18 19 The "bullet button" feature is a bone of contention between 20 the parties - it appears that Defendants' position is that any 21 firearm with a bullet button is an "assault weapon;" whereas 22 Plaintiffs argue that only certain firearms, i.e., those listed in 23 Penal Code sections 30510 and 30520, constitute "assault weapons." 24 As stated above, an administrative agency is not limited to 25 the exact statutory provisions, and is allowed to "fill up the 26 details" of the statutory scheme. (Paintcare, supra, 233 27 Cal.App.4th at p. 1307.) DOJ, then, is authorized to promulgate 28 regulations that carry out the intent of Penal Code section 30900. 17CECG03093-MWS -20-

"an assault weapon may now include a weapon that 'does not have a

1 Defendants argue that "the same dangers posed by bullet-button 2 equipped rifles and pistols are also posed by bullet-button 3 equipped shotguns[,]" thus, DOJ's regulations including bullet button shotquns properly carries out the Legislative intent. 5 (Opp., 15:17-18.)

6 The legislative findings and declarations state that the 7 Legislature intended to restrict assault weapons (as defined in 8 section 30510, which is a list of designated semiautomatic 9 firearms), and not to restrict the use of weapons that are 10 primarily designed for hunting, target practice, or "other 11 legitimate sports or recreational activities." (Pen. Code .12 $3505(a).) Defendants argue that the five definitions Plaintiffs 13 allege were repealed were, in fact, simply moved; and that this 14 consolidation of terms is reasonably necessary for the 15 registration process because it prevents confusion that would 16 otherwise stem from applying two separate sets of definitions. 17 Defendants state preventing such confusion is within DOJ's 18 authority pursuant to section 30900, to make rules implementing the registration process. Arguably, the Legislature chose to 19 20 leave some details to DOJ to "fill in," relying on DOJ's 21 experience; moreover, the addition of a bullet button does seem to 22 bring a firearm within the Legislature's intent to restrict 23 weapons that go beyond general recreational activities. The APA 24 exemption granted by the Legislature would appear to include the 25 power to define terms to enable the public to understand and 26 comply with the registration process; Defendants argue the definitions are reasonably necessary to the registration process, 27 28 to which the APA exemption applies, as a reflection of DOJ's judgment that such information will assist firearm owners in 1 2 understanding and navigating the registration process and allow 3 DOJ to carry out the registration process efficiently. The language of Penal Code section 30900 is being interpreted 4 5 differently by the parties is this: 6. Any person who...lawfully possessed an assault weapon that does not have a fixed magazine, as defined in 7 Section 30515, including those weapons with an ammunition feeding device that can be readily removed 8 from the firearm with the use of a tool, shall register the firearm before July 1, 2018 ... 9 10 Defendants argue the bolded language here means any weapon 11 that has a bullet button, therefore all bullet button weapons, not 12 just bullet button "assault weapons" (as defined in §§ 30510 and 30515), are included and must be registered. 13 In other words, 14 Defendants' position is that the bolded language above adds 15 firearms to the AWCA. Plaintiffs argue the "included" here simply 16 modifies the phrase "assault weapon that does not have a fixed 17 magazine," i.e., it only clarifies what weapons are included in 18 that phrase, it does not add more to it. 19 Defendants submit various analyses prepared for Senate Bill 20 880 and Assembly Bill 1135; these tend generally to lend support 21 to Defendants' argument that the problem the Legislature was 22 attempting to address was bullet buttons on firearms generally, 23 however there is also language in the legislative history 24 submitted by Defendants indicating "assault weapon" is meant to 25 include those firearms that meet two requirements: (1) does not 26 have a fixed magazine (i.e., does have a bullet button); and (2) 27 has one of several specified military-style features (see Pen. 28 Code $30515(a)(1), (b)). (See RJN, Exhs. 1-9.)

1 Plaintiffs also argue that the level of deference the Court 2 is to apply to Defendant DOJ's decisions is significantly lower 3 than that urged by Defendants. Plaintiffs state that because this is an issue of statutory interpretation, not a situation where the 4 5 agency is interpreting one of its own regulations, judicial 6 deference to DOJ's decision is much lower and the Court should 7 independently review the text of the authorizing statute. 8 Plaintiffs' ask the Court to find that the challenged regulations 9 are not of a subject matter that fits within the APA exemption of 10 section 30900; the regulations illegally alter the scope of the 11 statute and are therefore void; DOJ effectively repealed five 12 definitions previously found in section 5469 (of Title 11 of 13 Calif. Code of Regulations) by moving them from a section that expressly stated the definitions applied to terms used in the 14 15 identification of "assault weapons" (pursuant to Pen. Code 16 $30515), to a section that applies for purposes of section 30900, 17 i.e., registration (rather than identification); that bullet 18 button shotguns do not meet the statutory definition of Wassault 19 weapons" and therefore do not need to be registered; that DOJ may 20 not require applicants to create a serial number for their 21 firearms without adopting a regulation pursuant to the APA, 22 because section 5474.2 (Title 11 of CCR) is not part of the 23 registration process, as it limits what firearms can be 24 registered, rather than how to register them; and that DOJ's self-25 exemption from liability, and the photo, citizenship and joint registration restriction provisions must be promulgated pursuant 26 27 to the APA, as each is outside the exemption granted by the 28 Legislature.

SUPERIOR COURT County of Fresno

1 In the Court's opinion, Defendants' interpretation of the 2 authorizing statute is reasonable; Plaintiffs fail to show that 3 Defendants abused their discretion in the interpretation of the authorizing statute. It appears that the Legislature's intent was 4 5 to cast a wider net so far as registering weapons fitted with a 6 bullet button, and to permit Defendant DOJ to promulgate 7 regulations that carry out this intent, without going through the 8 APA notice and comment procedures. The documents submitted by 9 Defendants (see RJN, filed 4/6/2018) contain repeated references to the "bullet button loophole," and the desire to curtail the 10^{-10} 11 proliferation of weapons that are able to fire large numbers of 12 rounds in a short period of time. Registration of firearms with 13 enhanced firepower from a bullet button, i.e., weapons that go 14 beyond the needs of "hunting, target practice, or other legitimate 15sports or recreational activities[]" (Pen. Code §30505(a)), is in 16 line with the intent of the AWCA (see ibid.), and appears to carry out the Legislature's intent for section 30900, subdivision (b)(1).

4 quotation marks, and brackets omitted; see Kasler v. Lockyer
5 (2000) 23 Cal.4th 472, 503.)

6 "Mandamus may issue to correct the exercise of discretionary 7 legislative power, but only if the action taken is so palpably 8 unreasonable and arbitrary as to show an abuse of discretion as a 9 matter of law. This is a highly deferential test." (Carrancho v. 10 California Air Resources Bd. (2003) 111 Cal.App.4th 1255, 1265, 11 italics in original; Yamaha Corp. of America v. Hughes (1944) 24 Cal.2d 437, 445 ["If 25 reasonable minds may well be divided as to the wisdom of an 26 administrative board's action, its action is conclusive."].) Put another way, where an agency's interpretation of an authorizing 27 28 statute is at issue, the court, in exercising its independent

SUPERIOR COURT County of Fresno judgment, accords "great weight and respect" to the agency's construction. (Association of California Insurance Companies v. Jones (2017) 2 Cal.5th 376, 389-390; County of Los Angele's v. City of Los Angeles (2013) 214 Cal.App.4th 643, 654.)

B. Petitioners Have Not Shown that Defendants Exceeded the Scope of the APA Exemption Found in Penal Code Section 30900.

7 An administrative agency "is not limited to the exact 8 provisions of a statute" in adopting regulations to enforce its 9 mandate; an absence of specific statutory provisions regarding the 10 regulation of an issue does not mean that such a regulation 11 exceeds statutory authority, as the agency is authorized to "fill 12 up the details" of the statutory scheme. (PaintCare v. Mortensen 13 (2015) 233 Cal.App.4th 1292, 1307, and cases cited; see also 14 California School Bds. Assn. v. State Bd. of Education (2011) 191 15 Cal.App.4th 530, 544; Batt v. City and County of San Francisco 16 (2010) 184 Cal.App.4th 163, 171, 174; Masonite Corp. v. County of 17 Mendocino Air Quality Management Dist. (1996) 42 Cal.App.4th 436, 18 445-447.) In other words, the Legislature may, after declaring a 19 policy and fixing a primary standard, confer upon an administrative officer the power to "fill up the details" by 20 21 prescribing administrative rules and regulations to promote the 22 purposes of the legislation and carry it into effect. (Coastside 23 Fishing Club v. California Resources Agency (2008) 158 Cal.App.4th 24 1183, 1205; see People v. Wright (1982) 30 Cal.3d 705, 713 25 [standards for administrative application of statute need not be 26 expressly set forth; may be implied by purpose of statute].)

The interpretation of a regulatory statute is the duty of the administrative agency charged with its enforcement; though final

(2007) 153 Cal.App.4th 1579, 1587 [where regulation is ambiguous, 5 6 is appropriate to consider agency's interpretation; "[i]ndeed, we 7 defer to an agency's interpretation of a regulation involving its 8 area of expertise," unless it "flies in the face of the clear 9 language and purpose" of its interpretive provision]; Communities 10 for a Better Environment v. State Water Resources Control Bd. 11 (2003) 109 Cal.App.4th 1089, 1104 [same].) Moreover, the 12 persuasiveness of the agency's interpretation "increases in 13 proportion to the expertise and special competence that are 14 reflected therein, including any evidence that the interpretation 15 was carefully considered at the highest policymaking level of the agency." (Alvarado v. Dart Container Corporation of California 16 17 (2018) 4 Cal.5th 542, 558.)

18 Legislative history may be examined to resolve ambiguities or 19 uncertainties regarding the purpose or meaning of a statute. 20. (Arce v. Kaiser Foundation Health Plan, Inc. (2010) 181 21 Cal.App.4th 471, 484; see Benson v. Workers' Compensation Appeals 22 Bd. (2009) 170 Cal.App.4th 1535, 1554, fn 16 [documents may be proper subjects of judicial notice if is indicated that 23 24 Legislature considered them in passing statute].) The court may 25 consider the impact an interpretation of a statute may have on 26 public policy, and where there is uncertainty, " 'consideration 27 should be given to the consequences that will flow from a

SUPERIOR COURT County of Fresno 17CECG03093-MWS 1 particular interpretation.' [Citation.]" (Mejia v. Reed (2003) 31
2 Cal.4th 657, 663.)

3 The Legislature has found and declared that the proliferation 4 and use of assault weapons poses a threat to the health, safety, 5 and security of the citizenry of California. (Pen. Code 6 §30505(a); see Kasler, supra, 23 Cal.4th at p. 482-488 [reviewing 7 "crisis created by the proliferation and use of assault weapons" 8 that gave rise to Assault Weapon Control Act].) Though creating 9 an effective statutory scheme has proved challenging, "...the 10 Legislature was not constitutionally compelled to throw up its 11 hands just because a perfectly comprehensive regulatory scheme was 12 not politically achievable. The problems of government are 13 practical ones and may justify, if they do not require, rough 14 accommodations[.]" (Id. at p. 487, internal citations and 15 quotation marks omitted; see Harrott v. County of Kings (2001) 25 16 Cal.4th 1138, 1154 [in determining statute's meaning, courts look 17 to "design of the statute as a whole and to its object and 18 policy[,]" in addition to statutory language].)

Accordingly, "on July 1, 2016, Governor Jerry Brown signed into law Assembly Bill 1135 and Senate Bill 880. See AB 1135 & SB 880, §§ 1 (amending Cal. Penal Code §30515). These bills changed the law by including weapons equipped with a bullet button within the statutory definition of an assault weapon." (Haynie v. Harris (9th Cir. 2016) 658 Fed. Appx. 834, 837.)

The Senate Committee on Public Safety's bill analysis states, "This bill clarifies the definition of assault weapons and provides the [DOJ] the authority to bring existing regulations into conformity with the original intent of California's Assault 17CECG03093-MWS

1 Weapon Ban" (Def's RJN, exh. 5, pg. 6); "[t]he purpose of this 2 change is to clarify that equipping a weapon with a 'bullet button' magazine release does not take that weapon outside the 3. 4 definition of an assault weapon[]" (Id. at p. 10). 5 Penal Code section 30900 provides: (b)(1) Any person who, from January 1, 2001, to 6 December 31, 2016, inclusive, lawfully possessed an 7 assault weapon that does not have a fixed magazine, as defined in Section 30515, including those weapons with 8 an ammunition feeding device that can be readily removed from the firearm with the use of a tool, shall 9 register the firearm before July 1, 2018, but not before the effective date of the regulations adopted 10 pursuant to paragraph (5), with the department pursuant to those procedures that the department may' 11 establish by regulation pursuant to paragraph (5). (Subd. (b) (1), italics added.) 12 [...] 13 The department shall adopt regulations for the purpose 14 of implementing this subdivision. These regulations are exempt from the Administrative Procedure Act 15 (Chapter 3.5 (commencing with Section 11340) of Part 1 of Division 3 of Title 2 of the Government Code). 16 (Subd: (b)(5).) 17 Plaintiffs here allege that Defendant Department of Justice 18 ("DOJ") exceeded the scope of its APA exemption when it 19 promulgated the challenged regulations via the "file and print" 20 process, rather than adhering to the notice and comment procedure 21 set forth in the APA. Specifically, Plaintiffs allege that DOJ's 22 exemption applied to promulgating regulations that addressed how 23 to register, not what to register; that the DOJ improperly expanded the definition of "assault weapon;" that "bullet button 24 25 shotguns" do not meet the statutory definition of "assault weapon" 26 and therefore should not have to be registered; that DOJ cannot 27 require applicants to create a serial number for a firearm; that 28 the non-liability clause is unrelated to the registration process; 17CECG03093-MWS

SUPERIOR COURT County of Fresno that DOJ cannot require applicants to create information, i.e., digital photos of firearms; that the joint registration restrictions are improper; and that the post-registration restrictions are excessive.

This Court is to give "great weight" to DOJ's interpretation of the authorizing statute. (See, e.g., Association of California Insurance Companies, supra, 2 Cal.5th at p. 390.) Defendant DOJ's interpretation of the exemption from the APA requirements does not appear to be contrary to law.

10 First, each of the regulations at issue "fill up the details" 11 of the authorizing statute. (PaintCare, supra, 233 Cal.App.4th at 12 p. 1311.) Defendant DOJ is authorized to "adopt regulations for 13 the purpose of implementing" the authorizing statute. (Pen. Code 14 $30900(b)(5).) The regulations at issue here each appear to do 15 just that, such that the APA exemption would apply. The 16 challenged regulations ensure that eligible weapons are 17 registered, by eligible applicants, through an understandable 18 registration process.

19 Second, the challenged regulations appear to carry out the 20 intention of the Legislature, i.e., to require registration of 21 "bullet button" firearms, based on the "finding that each firearm 22 has such a high rate of fire and capacity for firepower that its 23 function as a legitimate sports or recreational firearm is 24 substantially outweighed by the danger that it can be used to kill 25 and injure human beings." (Pen. Code §30505(a).) Penal Code 26 section 30900 provides that "an assault weapon that does not have 27 a fixed magazine, as defined in Section 30515, including those 28 weapons with an ammunition feeding device that can be readily
