BH Disposition

BH Clinical Overview : Patient is a 65 year-old MWM brought to Kent ED via rescue. Patient reportedly placed a gun on the table after argument with wife and stated "Just shoot me. Put me out of my misery". Cranston Police was called to the home.

Upon assessment, Patient pacing in room was fully cooperative with Writer. Patient right away expressed eagerness to discharge home. States that Dr Graves had told him he could go home. Patient reported that he felt at a loss that his wife called the Police. He explained that he had an insignificant argument with her last night over a coffee mug. Wife left for the night and returned this morning. States that he placed the gun on the table, and had removed the magazine prior to this. Admitted that he made the statement but denied feeling suicidal or homicidal before, during, or after this incident. Patient stated that wife made similar statement when she was hospitalized for major pain issue last year. Patient was adamant that contractor. Blaming of his wife for "changing since her mother died a year ago".

Writer interviewed Patient's wife over a half hour. Wife had to be taken to ED's family room for therapeutic intervention due to mood lability while this clinician attempted to obtain collateral information. Wife denied feeling unsafe. States that she is not concerned that her husband would attempt suicide. States "he is too narcissistic for that". Wife confirmed Patient's report as depicted above. Wife informed that the patient drinks more than he is reporting. States that in addition to the 2 beers reported, Pt also drinks a couple little nips "it only starts affecting him after the 4 or 5th nip." Wife c/o tearfully that she does not feel supported or understood by her husband. Wife discussed that she started seeing a therapist with whom she has been on the phone for several hours last night and today. Complained that her husband would not support her in this endeavor, nor agreeable to join her in spousal counseling. Wife shared that her hope was that her husband could get some help here in the ER. Wife was adamant that the Police had removed both guns from the home while her husband was in the rescue vehicle. States that he would be upset to know this, but insisted that she still felt safe. Writer recommended to wife to continue seeking her therapist advice, and to call 911 if any concerns for her safety or the safety of her husband. Wife informed that she is planning to return to hotel tonight.

Writer informed Patient that the Police had removed the guns from the home. Patient received news calmly and took list of outpatient mental health resources offered by Writer.

BH Disposition : Patient was discharged to home with resources to follow up with outpatient mental health services. Disposition discussed with, and approved by ED Attending Physician.

Axis I : Unspecified Depressive Disorder 311 (F32.9)

Axis II : Deferred 799.99

Axis III : None reported

BH Clinical Assessment : Patient was alert and oriented x3. Patient denied suicidal and homicidal thoughts, intent, or plan. Patient denied past attempts. Patient denied history of mental illness or past psychiatric hospitalization. Patient denied auditory, visual, or tactile hallucinations. Denied mania and substance abuse issue. There was no evidence of mania, paranoid ideation, or delusions. Patient and wife endorsed feeling safe. Patient brushed off suicidal gesture as "a misunderstanding". Writer and other staff felt confident that the guns had been confiscated by Police. Additionally, Patient's wife indicated that she would not be home tonight. Based on this, and based on Patient/ Wife's presentation, there is at this time no evidence that the Patient is a danger to self or others. Thus, Patient does not meet criteria for involuntary commitment to psychiatric hospitalization.

Pt tells me that he and his wife have been arguing recently, she has been in tx for psych issues related to loss of her mother abot a year ago, and last night they got into an argument about a minor issue. He became increasingly frustrated about this, and eventually went and got his unloaded gun and made a comment to his wife that she should just shoot him and put him out of his misery. He then went for a drive, wanted to figure out a way to apologize to his wife, bought a plant, and came home to find her packing her bags to leave which she then did. He called her later in the evening to talk with her and say goodnight, and had some tequila then went to bed. Called her this AM and left her a message about how he didnt think this was a good way to handle their disagreements, and then he got a call from CPD telling him that they were on the wav over to check on him, and when CPD arrived they

BH Clinical Overview: Patient is a 65 year-old MWM brought to Kent ED via rescue. Patient reportedly placed a gun on the table after argument with wife and stated "Just shoot me. Put me out of my misery". Cranston Police was called to the home.

Upon assessment, Patient pacing in room was fully cooperative with Writer. Patient right away expressed eagerness to discharge home. States that Dr Graves had told him he could go home. Patient reported that he felt at a loss that his wife called the Police. He explained that he had an insignificant argument with her last night over a coffee mug. Wife left for the night and returned this morning. States that he placed the gun on the table, and had removed the magazine prior to this. Admitted that he made the statement but denied feeling suicidal or homicidal before, during, or after this incident. Patient stated that wife made similar statement when she was hospitalized for major pain issue last year. Patient was adamant that he would never harm himself, his wife, or others. Patient stated that when he returned home after incident, wife was gone. "Next thing I know a Police squad was at my house. They offered me to go to hospital or I can stay home and get my guns confiscated". Patient denied all psychiatric symptoms. States that he saw what the suicide of his uncle 20 years ago, and the suicide of his friend Joey a year ago did to the survivors. Thus, he would never kill himself. Patient endorsed fleeting depression "because I am getting old and I worry about medical breakdown. Everybody does." States that he made an appointment with his PCP for a full workup. States that he is financially well off, having made a lot of money as a general contractor. Blaming of his wife for "changing since her mother died a year ago".

Writer interviewed Patient's wife over a half hour. Wife had to be taken to ED's family room for therapeutic intervention due to mood lability while this clinician attempted to obtain collateral information. Wife denied feeling unsafe. States that she is not concerned that her husband would attempt suicide. States "he is too narcissistic for that". Wife confirmed Patient's report as depicted above. Wife informed that the patient drinks more than he is reporting. States that in addition to the 2 beers reported, Pt also drinks a couple little nips "it only starts affecting him after the 4 or 5th nip." Wife c/o tearfully that she does not feel supported or understood by her husband. Wife discussed that she started seeing a therapist with whom she has been on the phone for several hours last night and today. Complained that her husband would not support her in this endeavor, nor agreeable to join her in spousal counseling. Wife shared that her hope was that her husband could get some help here in the ER. Wife was adamant that the Police had removed both guns from the home while her husband was in the rescue vehicle. States that he would be upset to know this, but insisted that she still felt safe. Writer recommended to wife to continue seeking her therapist advice, and to call 911 if any concerns for her safety or the safety of her husband. Wife informed that she is planning to return to hotel tonight.

Writer informed Patient that the Police had removed the guns from the home. Patient received news calmly and took list of outpatient mental health resources offered by Writer.

BH Disposition: Patient was discharged to home with resources to follow up with outpatient mental health services. Disposition discussed with, and approved by ED Attending Physician.
