RESPONSE TO PRAYER FOR RELIEF

Mr. LaPierre denies the allegations set forth in the Complaint in the Prayer for Relief.

AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSES

Without admission that it carries the burden of proof as to any of the following, Mr. LaPierre asserts the following affirmative defenses without waiver of other applicable affirmative defenses not included here, which he reserves the right to assert as they become known.

First Affirmative Defense

1. The Complaint fails to state a cause of action as against Mr. LaPierre.

Second Affirmative Defense

2. The causes of action asserted against Mr. LaPierre in the Complaint, and related requests for relief, are barred, in whole or in part, by the doctrines of regulatory estoppel, estoppel, judicial estoppel, law of the case, waiver, and/or laches.

Third Affirmative Defense

3. The causes of action asserted against Mr. LaPierre in the Complaint, and related requests for relief are barred, in whole or in part, by Plaintiff's unclean hands.

Fourth Affirmative Defense

4. Plaintiff's attempt to bring a derivative action in behalf of the National Rifle Association of America and/or its members against Mr. LaPierre cannot be sustained due to its failure adequately to allege the futility of making a demand upon the National Rifle Association of America's Board of Directors. Further, the Attorney General has not only failed to allege with particularity, but cannot allege, that a majority of the Board is conflicted with self-interest, or is controlled by self-interested persons, concerning transactions at issue. Director nominations occur through a nominating committee – which gets candidates from innumerable sources including advertisements in NRA Magazine and in response to requests made to members for suggested directors – or by petition, or both, after which approximately one-half of the National Rifle Association of America's approximately five million members are eligible to vote for directors of their preference. The particular circumstances presented by these nomination and election protocols hopelessly defeat the Attorney General's necessary threshold allegations to establish demand futility.

Fifth Affirmative Defense

5. Plaintiff's attempt to bring a derivative action against Mr. LaPierre in behalf of the National Rifle Association of America's members pursuant to N-PCL § 1102(a)(2) additionally fails because Plaintiff fails to allege support from ten percent of the total number of National Rifle Association of America members. Although derivative standing pursuant to N-PCL § 623 would be insufficient in a dissolution action, Plaintiff likewise fails to allege support from five percent of any class of National Rifle Association of America members as the foregoing section would require. Indeed, Plaintiff alleges no support from any National Rifle Association of America member.

Sixth Affirmative Defense

6. Plaintiff's attempt to enjoin, void or rescind alleged related-party transactions pursuant to N-PCL §§ 112(a)(10), 715(f), and EPTL § 8-1.9(c)(4) fails because, to the extent such transactions were not approved in accordance with N-PCL § 715(a)-(b), they were duly ratified in accordance with N-PCL § 715(j).

Seventh Affirmative Defense

7. The damages suffered by Plaintiff or any third-parties were proximately caused by intervening and superseding actions and occurrences including, but not limited to, actions of persons, entities, and/or forces over which Mr. LaPierre exerted no control and for which the he has no responsibility.

Eighth Affirmative Defense

8. The causes of action asserted against Mr. LaPierre in the Complaint, and related requests for remedial action and other relief against Mr. LaPierre, are barred, in whole or in part, by the applicable statute of limitations and other statutory or equitable time limitations.

Ninth Affirmative Defense

9. The causes of action asserted against Mr. LaPierre in the Complaint, and related requests for remedial action and other relief against Mr. LaPierre, based on claims of alleged falsity in public filings, and other allegations which sound in fraud, must fail because the allegations of the Complaint are not stated with sufficient particularity as required under the Civil Practice Law and Rules regardless of the remedial purposes of any statute on which Plaintiff is proceeding in this case.

Tenth Affirmative Defense

10. The causes of action asserted against Mr. LaPierre in the Complaint, and related requests for remedial action and other relief against Mr. LaPierre, must fail, in whole or in part, because Mr. LaPierre did not act with fault, knowledge of unlawfulness or bad faith, or with intent to deceive, manipulate, or defraud, and did not recklessly disregard any alleged misrepresentations, misstatements, or omissions of material fact.

Eleventh Affirmative Defense

11. One or more causes of actions, claims or allegations asserted, or remedies or relief sought, is barred by collateral estoppel or res judicata.

Twelfth Affirmative Defense

12. Mr. LaPierre has no liability under any of the causes of action asserted against him in the Complaint because, at all times, as an officer and director of the corporation, he discharged his responsibilities in good faith and with that degree of care which an ordinarily prudent person in a like position would exercise in like circumstances, and acted without fault, knowledge of unlawfulness or bad faith.

13. More specifically, upon information and belief, the causes of action asserted against Mr. LaPierre in the Complaint are barred, in whole or in part, and he has no liability by reason of being or having been a director, officer or key person of the National Rifle Association of America, because, at all times, as an officer and director of the corporation, he discharged the duties of his positions in good faith and with the care an ordinarily prudent person in a like position would exercise in like circumstances, and in discharging his duties, and acting in good faith, relied upon information, opinions, reports or statements, including financial statements and other financial data prepared or presented by (a) one or more officers or employees of the National Rifle Association of America whom he believed to be reliable and competent in the matters presented, (b) public accountants, and other persons as to matters which he believed to be within their professional or expert competence, and/or (c) committees of the board of the National Rifle Association of America upon which he did not serve, duly designated in accordance with the bylaws of the National Rifle Association of America, as to matters within their designated authority, which committees he believed merited confidence, and in so relying he was acting in good faith and with that degree of care specified in N-PCL § 717(a) and without knowledge concerning the matter in question that would cause such reliance to be unwarranted. For example, Mr. LaPierre relied in good faith on the National Rifle Association of America's Treasurer and Chief Financial Officer and employees in the accounting department to properly review and account for all proposed transactions, financial transactions and accounting transactions and to keep proper books and records in accordance with all applicable laws and to ensure that the corporation was acting in accordance with all applicable laws, rules and regulations, and relied on the Audit Committee to oversee the financial affairs of the Association and outside auditors to review the Association's financial statements and accounting procedures and inform him of any shortcomings, and relied on the clean audits the Association received every year as an indication that the financial functions were being handled properly.

Thirteenth Affirmative Defense

14. Mr. LaPierre has no liability under any of the causes of action asserted against him in the Complaint because, at all times, as an officer and director of the corporation, he conducted himself and performed his responsibilities within the scope of appropriate business judgment and deserving of the protections of the business judgment rule.

Fourteenth Affirmative Defense

15. Mr. LaPierre has no liability under any of the causes of action asserted against him in the Complaint because, at all times, as an officer and director of the corporation, he relied on information, opinions, or reports of reasonable reliability either presented or available to him as he was permitted as an officer and director of the corporation acting in good faith.

Fifteenth Affirmative Defense

16. The causes of action asserted against Mr. LaPierre in the Complaint purport to deprive him of his statutory business judgment rule defense and thus violate the fault-based scheme codified by the New York Legislature with respect to the regulation of not-for-profit corporations and officer, directors and other persons associated with such corporations. Plaintiff's claims exceed the bounds of the Attorney General's authority by asserting against Mr. LaPierre non-statutory claims which are devoid of any fault-based elements in a manner inconsistent with the N-PCL's statutory scheme and by failing to allege fault with respect to statutory causes of action she has asserted or the non-statutory claims she has asserted, as required by the N-PCL. In this way, the Office of the Attorney General has arrogated to herself an inappropriate and unlawful lower burden of proof than that imposed on it by New York law.

Sixteenth Affirmative Defense

17. The causes of action asserted against Mr. LaPierre in the Complaint for return of compensation paid to him violate the statutory authority granted to the Attorney General, which does not imbue her with the power to avoid contracts or transactions between a corporation and its officers or directors. In light of Mr. LaPierre's undisputed performance of the work assigned to him, he justifiably and reasonably relied upon a compensation expectation set by an affirmative vote of a majority of the National Rifle Association of America Board of Directors the subsequent payment of which, accordingly, was neither an unjust enrichment nor an excess benefit transaction as a matter of law.

Seventeenth Affirmative Defense

18. Plaintiff seeks an injunction and other equitable relief with respect to Mr. LaPierre on the basis of conduct of others over whom Mr. LaPierre had no control and for whose actions Mr. LaPierre is not liable.

Eighteenth Affirmative Defense

19. Any recovery by Plaintiff against Mr. LaPierre on any cause of action against Mr. LaPierre must be set off, reduced, abated or apportioned to the extent that any other intervening or superseding action or occurrence caused or contributed to damages awarded to Plaintiff, including, but not limited to, the COVID pandemic.

Nineteenth Affirmative Defense

20. The causes of action asserted against Mr. LaPierre in the Complaint, and related requests for remedial action and other relief against Mr. LaPierre, are barred to the extent acts or omissions of third parties caused the alleged injury and damages complained of in this lawsuit.

Twentieth Affirmative Defense

21. The causes of action asserted against Mr. LaPierre in the Complaint, and related requests for remedial action and other relief against Mr. LaPierre, must fail, in whole or in part, because Mr. LaPierre did not make any false or misleading statement of material fact, or omit any material fact when he had a duty to speak, and is not responsible in law or in fact for any alleged false or misleading statement or omission of material fact made by others.

Twenty-First Affirmative Defense

22. The causes of action asserted against Mr. LaPierre in the Complaint, and related requests for remedial action and other relief against Mr. LaPierre, are unwarranted and moot because Mr. LaPierre acted at all times in good faith and because there is no substantial likelihood that Mr. LaPierre will violate the statutes, rules, or provisions specified in the Complaint's causes of action and "Prayer for Relief," including, without limitation, with respect to the alleged “LaPierre Post-Employment Agreement,” which has been cancelled and superseded, and under which no payment was ever made.

Twenty-Second Affirmative Defense

23. The causes of action asserted against Mr. LaPierre in the Complaint, and related requests for remedial action and other relief against Mr. LaPierre, violate the United States Constitution to the extent it seeks to bar Mr. LaPierre permanently from serving as an officer, director, or trustee of any not-for-profit or charitable organization authorized to conduct business or solicit charitable donations in the State of New York or that conducts any activities in New York, or to work for such a corporation in any other capacity, anywhere in the United States, as such relief would violate the substantive guarantees of the Due Process Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution and violate the “dormant” or (“negative”) Commerce Clause, Article I, Section 8, Clause 3 of the United States Constitution, in that it presents an unlawful infringement and restraint on interstate commerce in violation of the Commerce Clause, and would also violate Mr. LaPierre’s rights under the First Amendment.

Twenty-Third Affirmative Defense

24. The sanction of disgorgement is unwarranted because Mr. LaPierre did not knowingly or willfully violate any of the statutes, rules, or provisions specified in the Complaint.

Twenty-Fourth Affirmative Defense

25. The cause of action for unjust enrichment asserted against Mr. LaPierre in the Complaint must fail because, among other reasons, there was a contract that covered the subject of his compensation, he was not unjustly enriched, and he did not retain any “excess benefit” from participation in an “excess benefit transaction” as set forth under Internal Revenue Code Section 4958.

Twenty-Fifth Affirmative Defense

26. The relative culpability of each party who is or may be liable for the damages alleged by Plaintiff in the instant action should be determined in accordance with the decisional and statutory law of the State of New York, and the equitable share of each party’s liability for contribution should be determined and apportioned in accordance with the relative culpability, if any, of each such party pursuant to Article 14 of the CPLR.

Twenty-Sixth Affirmative Defense

27. The causes of action asserted against Mr. LaPierre in the Complaint, and related requests for remedial action and other relief against Mr. LaPierre are barred, in whole or in part, are barred by culpable conduct on the part of Plaintiff, including, without limitation, selective prosecution, viewpoint discrimination, and defamation.

Twenty-Seventh Affirmative Defense

28. The causes of action asserted against Mr. LaPierre in the Complaint, and related requests for remedial action and other relief against Mr. LaPierre are barred, in whole or in part, are barred by payment, accord and satisfaction.

Twenty-Eighth Affirmative Defense

29. The causes of action asserted against Mr. LaPierre in the Complaint, and related requests for remedial action and other relief against Mr. LaPierre are barred, in whole or in part, because the action is one “brought in behalf of the people” and the action has not been “brought in the name of the state” as required by CPLR 1301, and Plaintiff has asserted causes of action against “National Rifle Association of America, Inc.”, which does not exist, therefore Plaintiff has joined an improper party and has failed to join proper, necessary and indispensable parties.

Twenty-Ninth Affirmative Defense

30. Plaintiff lacks standing to sue Mr. LaPierre under N-PCL § 623.

Thirtieth Affirmative Defense

31. Plaintiff lacks capacity to sue Mr. LaPierre under common law.

Thirty-First Affirmative Defense

32. Plaintiff lacks capacity to sue Mr. LaPierre because he has substantially complied with all applicable statutes and has taken voluntary steps to ensure complete compliance and avoid any compliance issues, including voluntary rescission of the post-employment contract complained of by Plaintiff, thereby rendering the causes of action against him based, in whole or in part, on that contract moot.

Thirty-Second Affirmative Defense

33. The causes of action asserted against Mr. LaPierre in the Complaint, and related requests for remedial action and other relief against Mr. LaPierre, are barred, in whole or in part, by the First Amendment to the United States Constitution, which requires that state regulation of not-for-profit corporations engaged in protected speech be conducted in the least intrusive manner possible and the relief sought against Mr. LaPierre in this action trespasses upon fundamental freedoms protected by the due process clause of the Fourteenth Amendment since the effect of removal and a lifetime nationwide ban on service to any not-for-profit corporation that conducts any activities in New York or solicits members or funds in New York would be to abridge his right to engage in lawful association with other supporters and defenders of the Second Amendment to the United States Constitution in support of their common beliefs, and would have the effect of chilling freedom of speech and assembly and curtailing his freedom to associate and freedom to speak freely on Second Amendment issues and other issues of public concern.

Thirty-Third Affirmative Defense

34. Each of Plaintiff's statutory claims against Mr. LaPierre fail to allege that he acted with the fault necessary to satisfy the fault-based scheme codified by the New York Legislature.

Thirty-Fourth Affirmative Defense

35. Plaintiff's claims and related requests for relief and remedial action – which include imposing on Mr. LaPierre a permanent bar preventing him from serving as an officer, director, or trustee, or in any similar capacity, of any not-for-profit or charitable organization to conduct business or solicit charitable donations in the State of New York – exceed the authority granted to her by the Legislature in the N-PCL and is incompatible with the statute, as well as the U.S. Constitution.

Thirty-Fifth Affirmative Defense

36. Plaintiff's claims and related requests for remedial action – including, without limitation, Plaintiff's attempt to impose on Mr. LaPierre a permanent bar preventing him from serving as an officer, director, or trustee of any not-for-profit or charitable organization authorized to conduct business or solicit charitable donations in the State of New York – exceed the authority granted to Plaintiff or the courts by the Legislature and thus exceed the Court's subject matter jurisdiction.

Thirty-Sixth Affirmative Defense

37. Plaintiff's claims and related requests for remedial action – including, without limitation, Plaintiff's requests that Mr. LaPierre return his earned compensation and that he be permanently prevented from serving as an officer, director, or trustee of any not-for-profit or charitable organization authorized to conduct business or solicit charitable donations in the State of New York – constitute a penalty or forfeiture, an action for which is forbidden under CPLR 7205 where, as here, Mr. LaPierre's acts were done in good faith and pursuant to a construction given to a statute by decisions of appellate courts.

Thirty-Seventh Affirmative Defense

38. Plaintiff's claims and related requests for remedial action – including, without limitation, Plaintiff's requests that Mr. LaPierre return his earned compensation and that he be permanently banned and enjoined from serving as an officer, director, or trustee of any not-for-profit or charitable organization authorized to conduct business or solicit charitable donations in the State of New York – violate New York State's Constitution and the United States Constitution and their protections against excessive and disproportional fines and forfeitures.

Thirty-Eighth Affirmative Defense

39. Plaintiff's claims against Mr. LaPierre for return of compensation paid to him violate the statutory authority granted to it which does not imbue Plaintiff with the power to set aside contracts or transactions between the corporation and its officers and directors. In light of Mr. LaPierre's undisputed performance of the work assigned to him, he justifiably and reasonably relied upon a compensation expectation set by an affirmative vote of a majority of the National Rifle Association of America Board of Directors the subsequent payment of which, accordingly, was neither an unjust enrichment nor an excess benefit transaction as a matter of law.

Thirty-Ninth Affirmative Defense

40. Plaintiff's causes of action to recover the compensation paid to Mr. LaPierre as unreasonable must fail because the Complaint does not state, as it must under CPLR 3016(h), that the National Rifle Association of America's all-volunteer Board of Directors' decision to approve and grant that compensation was based upon gross negligence or intentional infliction of harm, nor that any alleged act or omission on the part of Mr. LaPierre in his capacity as an ex officio director, with voice but without vote, of the all-volunteer board constituted gross negligence or intentional infliction of harm.

Fortieth Affirmative Defense

41. Plaintiff's claims against Mr. LaPierre are barred completely because none of the acts or omissions alleged in the Complaint has produced injury to the public and granting any of the relief requested against Mr. LaPierre would harm the public and violate the First Amendment by chilling and suppressing free speech and free association.

Forty-First Affirmative Defense

42. Whatever injuries may have been sustained were caused in whole or in part, or were contributed to, by the culpable conduct and/or want of care on the part of an entity or individuals over whom Mr. LaPierre had no control.

Forty-Second Affirmative Defense

43. The relative culpability of each party who is or may be liable for the damages alleged by the plaintiff in this action should be determined in accordance with the decisional and statutory law of the State of New York, and the equitable share of each party's liability for contribution should be determined and apportioned in accordance with the relative culpability, if any, of each such party pursuant to Article 14 of the CPLR.

WHEREFORE, Defendant Wayne LaPierre demands judgment in his favor against Plaintiff People of the State of New York, By Letitia James, Attorney General of the State of New York dismissing the Complaint with prejudice, awarding him costs and disbursements of this action, and granting him such other or further relief as the Court deems just and proper.
