20	San Diego Municipal Code section 53.18 (Section 53.18) prohibits non-
21	serialized firearms and the self-manufacture of firearms using non-serialized
22	firearm components. See San Diego Municipal Code (SDMC) § 53.18(a), (c)(1)-
23	(2). Section 53.18 does not, however, prohibit the self-manufacture of firearms
25	using serialized unfinished frames or receivers. See SDMC § 53.18(c)(1)-(2). The
26	prohibitions of Section 53.18 do not apply if an unfinished frame or receiver is
27	"imprinted with a serial number issued to that unfinished frame or unfinished receiver by a Federal Firearms Importance Federal Firearms Manufacturer, or Department of Justice for that unfinished frame or unfinished receiver." SDMC § 53.18(c)(1)-(2). San Diegans are free to self-manufacture firearms, provided they start with a serialized unfinished frame or receiver.

- 4 Under the current Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms, and Explosives 5 (ATF) regulatory regime, manufacturers and importers must impress unique serial 6 numbers upon both completed "firearms" and any "firearm frame or receiver that is 7 not a component of a complete weapon[.]" 27 C.F.R. § 478.92(a). However, the 8 current ATF regulations narrowly define the terms "frames" and "receivers" as 9 firearm components that are readily operational without any additional 10 modification. See 27 C.F.R. §§ 478.11, 479.11. Consequently, the ATF's definition 11 and, thus, its serialization system, do not extend to unfinished frames and receivers 12 which require some degree of physical alteration.
- 13 Because unfinished frames and receivers are excluded from the current 14 serialization system, Plaintiffs contend that Section 53.18's serialization exceptions 15 are illusory, and Section 53.18 operates as a total and complete ban on the 16 purported right to self-manufacture firearms. See Compl. ¶¶ 72, 78. According to 17 Plaintiffs, there is no conceivable way that a San Diego resident who wishes to self-18 manufacture a firearm can procure a serialized, unfinished frame or receiver and, 19 therefore, he or she must violate Section 53.18 to exercise a purported Second Amendment right. 20 21 Recent regulatory rule making severely undermines Plaintiffs' contention 22 that Section 53.18 renders their right to self-manufacture a firearm strictly illusory. 23 On April 26, 2022, the Department of Justice (DOJ) and the ATF issued a final rule entitled "Definition of 'Frame and Receiver' and Identification of Firearms." 24 25 Definition of 'Frame and Receiver' and Identification of Firearms, 87 Fed. Reg. 26 24652 (Apr. 26, 2022). The new rule proposes changes to various regulations in 27 27 CFR parts 447, 478, and 479 in order to "amend[] ATF's regulations to clarify the 28 definition of 'firearm' and to provide a more comprehensive definition of 'frame or

1 receiver[.]" 87 Fed. Reg. 24652, 24661 (citing 86 Fed. Reg. 27720 (May 21,

2 2021)). Among other things, the rule requires Federally Licensed Firearm
3 Manufacturers and Importers to imprint with serial numbers unfinished frames or 4 receivers. 87 Fed. Reg. 24652, 24664, 24728. The rule takes effect 120 days after 5 April 11, 2022.

6 After the effective date, any "partially complete, disassembled, or 7 nonfunctional frame or receiver, including a frame or receiver parts kit, that is 8 designed to or may readily be completed, assembled, restored, or otherwise 9 converted to function as a frame or receiver" will need to be serialized prior to sale. 10 87 Fed. Reg. 24652, 24739. The final rule provides examples clarifying when such 11 items are considered readily completed, assembled, restored, or otherwise 12 converted to function as the frame or receiver.<sup>1</sup> 87 Fed. Reg. 24652, 24653. And 13 when determining whether a frame or receiver is subject to serialization, "the 14 Director may consider any associated templates, jigs, molds, equipment, tools, 15 instructions, guides, or marketing materials that are sold, distributed, or possessed 16 with the item or kit, or otherwise made available by the seller or distributor of the item or kit to the purchaser or recipient of the item or kit." 87 Fed. Reg. 24652, 17 18 24739. Based on the examples and explanations of "frame or receiver," the new 19 rule will require serialization of nearly all unfinished frames and receivers currently 20 sold for self-manufacture. 87 Fed. Reg. 24652, 24739. If Plaintiffs lack access to 21 unfinished frames and receivers in the future, it will not be because of Section 22 53.18.

&lt;sup>1</sup> "Example 1 to paragraph (c) – Frame or receiver: A frame or receiver parts kit containing a partially complete or disassembled billet or blank of a frame or receiver that is sold, distributed, or possessed with a compatible jig or template is a frame or receiver, as a person with online instructions and common hand tools may readily complete or assemble the frame or receiver parts to function as a frame or receiver; Example 2 to paragraph (c)—Frame or receiver: A partially complete billet or blank of a frame or receiver with one or more template holes drilled or indexed in the correct location is a frame or receiver, as a person with common hand tools may readily complete the billet or blank to function as a frame or receiver." 87 Fed. Reg. 24652, 24739.

1 The plain language of Section 53.18 is consistent with the new rule. 2 Moreover, Section 53.18 explicitly provides that it is "to be applied and interpreted 3 consistent with state and federal law." See SDMC § 53.18(a). Under Section 53.18, 4 an unfinished frame or receiver subject to serialization is "a piece of any material 5 that does not constitute the completed [frame or receiver] of a firearm, but that has 6 been shaped or formed in any way for the purpose of becoming the [frame or 7 receiver] of a firearm, and which may be made into a functional [frame or receiver] 8 of a firearm through milling, drilling, or other means." See SDMC § 53.18(b)(11) -9 (12). Section 53.18 and the new ATF rule both require serialization of partially complete frames or receivers that, with minimal effort, can be manufactured into 10 11 completed firearms. Even if Section 53.18 were repealed, the new ATF rule still 12 forecloses Plaintiffs' ability to self-manufacture firearms using non-serialized 13 unfinished frames or receivers.

14 Plaintiffs declared that regulatory change was a condition precedent to the 15 ability to self-manufacture firearms using unfinished frames and receivers. See 16 Compl. ¶ 72 n.1 ("Thus, no serialization process exists for firearm frames or 17 receivers-much less unfinished frames or receivers-and none will exist unless 18 and until the regulatory scheme is changed to specifically require it."). The 19 regulatory system has changed - and serialization is now required for unfinished 20 frames and receivers. San Diegans now, or will soon, have the same access to 21 serialized unfinished frames and receivers as other California residents and citizens 22 of other states.

The ATF final rule is a common-sense measure designed to close a regulatory loophole that previously allowed prohibited persons to construct and possess untraceable firearms. Neither the ATF final rule, nor Section 53.18 violates the Second Amendment because the Gun Control Act and the ATF final rule "do not prohibit individuals from assembling or otherwise making their own firearms from parts for personal use, such as self-defense or other lawful purposes." 87 Fed.
